Education tax rate ceiling election Friday

Venice school fund transfusion needed

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

The Venice School District will fall "far short" of meeting its operating expenses in the educational fund during the current school year unless voters approve a tax rate increase, school officials said today as they prepared for this week's referendum vote on the rate proposal. Voters will go to the polls Friday from noon until 7 p.m. in two school district polling places to ballot on a proposed tax rate boost of 50 cents per $100 assessed valuation in the educational fund. Such an increase is necessary to keep Venice schools operating, according to Board of Education members.

To outline details of the district's financial problems and the need of additional tax funds, school board members will conduct a public meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Venice High School Library. Friday's vote on an educational fund tax rate will be the fourth in the last year and a half in an effort to meet an increasing shortage of funds resulting, School Board members say, from spiraling costs, higher teachers salaries and reduced tax revenue resulting from lower property values. The district sought approval of a $1.20 rate increase in an election June 30, 1973. That proposal was defeated, as were proposals for an 80-cent increase in elections held Dec. 7, 1973, and again on March 1 this year. Robert Vickers, superintendent of schools, said board members have been meeting during the past several weeks with clubs and organizations to explain the need of the additional tax funds. Voters will ballot Friday in a polling place at the Eagle Park

Impatient parents want crackdown at Madison High

Impatient over the latest annual recurrence of mid-autumn student unrest at Madison High School, many parents are calling for tighter security measures and a sterner response at hearings being conducted for students. Their views were voiced at a monthly school board meeting Thursday night and in informal conversations with officials during the weekend.

Meanwhile, the board after reinstating 15 students on probation Wednesday night reinstated eight others Friday evening while expelling one and allowing another to be withdrawn from school. Several more hearings are planned tonight. About 75 persons crowded the board office Thursday evening, most disagreeing with what they considered an insufficiently strong crackdown. Unrest developed Oct. 13 and led to the cancellation of classes on Oct. 15. Instruction resumed

Oct. 16 and attendance has been increasing. It was verified during the weekend that one 17-year-old boy was treated for a head cut requiring six sutures and was hospitalized overnight for observation. He was on his way home from school on the morning of Oct. 15 when other students drove by, stopped their auto and threw a brick. Discussions indicated the belief that many of the reinstatements were approved by a 3-3 board decision.

Mrs. Donna Thomas asked the board why some students

King yids at 'Camelot'

Would you believe bids of: $68 for $50 worth of pennies? $55 for a $50 food gift certificate? $255 for a pedal-operated "people-powered" vehicle? $15 for old police badges? $180 for a cherry-wood "grandmother's clock"? The second annual Rotary-Optimist Camelot, an auction that raises funds for charitable purposes, attracted a capacity dinner gathering Saturday evening and also attracted successful bids exceeding $13,000.

Sunset Hills Country Club was nearly filled with the bids, most of which were made available for immediate delivery to the purchasers. An exception was a new Chrysler Cordoba, which was sold for a bargain $5,100 and remained at the showroom pending delivery arrangements. Jewelry, antiques, rare commemorative plates and even hot-air balloon rides were included among the 137 categories of bidding, which required four and a half hours to complete. Among the transactions were a $105 bid for a cut-glass punch bowl, $50 for an Illinois state flag, $60 for a parking meter lamp, $47 for a football helmet, and a bid for the 1967 champion Green Bay Packers and $57 for a musical table that plays "Aminul Fatah."

Net proceeds have not yet been announced. Chairmen of the Camelot committee were G. H. Sternberg Sr. for Granite City Optimists and Steven E. Bristol for Granite City Rotarians.

Maze amazes explorers lost in cave 32 hours

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

Being lost for 32 hours in the underground maze of one of the deepest pits in the United States must be a hair-raising experience. The adventure, however, apparently has failed to deter a young Granite City woman, a veteran spelunker (cave explorer), from attempting other exploits which could result in similar problems.

Alexia Cochrane of Granite City was among a party of four experienced cave explorers recently rescued from Ellison's Cave inside Pigeon Mountain, near LaFayette, Ga. The area is about 20 miles south of Chattanooga, Tenn.

Miss Cochrane's exploration party became lost when a second quarry of explorers failed to rendezvous with her group beneath the surface during a crossover trip. A crossover, she explained, means two parties of explorers tie mountain climbing ropes at the entrances and pits, rappel (climb) down into the cave and cross each others path on the inside. Each party then exits by climbing out on the ropes left by the other party. Pigeon Mountain is noted for having two of the deepest pits in the U.S. One plunges to a depth of 810 feet and the second is 460 feet deep. Additionally, the pits have a three-dimensional maze system along nine miles of complex passageways on different levels.

Miss Cochrane's party, led by Larry Caldwell of LaFayette, Ga., carried with it several hundred feet of rope to descend into the pit. At the same time, a second group led by Don Davison, also of LaFayette, climbed into the cave via entrances on the opposite side of Pigeon Mountain. Davison's party gave up the trip and left the cave after they discovered recent rock collapses had changed their landmarks and a critical junction leading to the exit could not be located.

Miss Cochrane's party, not knowing the other group had given up, kept working toward the exit. After 18 hours underground, her group also experienced difficulty in locating the correct passage to exit. At this point, Miss Cochrane said, they knew they were too exhausted to go back through nearly eight miles of passageways to the entrance through which they descended into the pit. The young Granite City woman said the group then followed standard caving procedure and decided to stop and await rescue teams.

The other two team members were Preston Forsythe of Kentucky and Joe Lieberz of Los Angeles, Calif. Meanwhile, on the surface, Davison realized the Caldwell team must be in trouble and called Walker County Civil Defense Director W. L. Abbey, who in turn notified civil defense workers that a rescue would be needed. The explorers had entered the cave about 4:15 p.m. Saturday. They were brought to the surface at 1 a.m. Monday. By Sunday afternoon, civil defense volunteers and spelunkers from Walker County, Ga., and Chattanooga, Tenn., had assembled at the two entrances and began their underground search efforts. Word of the rescue attempt had reached Atlanta and

Daylight time ends Sunday

Daylight saving time will end officially at 2 a.m. Sunday, but most Quad-Cityans will see their clocks back one hour before retiring Saturday night. The nation will return to standard time for a four-month period under a bill signed by President Ford. The bill amended a law passed in 1973 that established year-around daylight saving time as an energy-saving measure. Daylight time will be restored Feb. 23.

Hits parked truck

Raymond Arthur, Rural Route Two, Box 1165, was injured in an unusual accident at 16th and Iowa streets at 7:05 p.m. Sunday. Arthur said friends were helping push his car when the accelerator stuck and the car went backwards across the street and traveled about 100 feet into a tractor-trailer, parked on the Granite City Steel scale lot. Arthur did not require hospital treatment.

CONFISCATED DRUGS with a street value of about $6,000 are inventoried by Granite City Police Detective Tony Eck after they were recovered from the trunk of a car in the 2200 block of Edwards Street Thursday night. Three persons have been charged with illegal possession of a controlled substance in connection with the drug seizure.

Stakeout nets $6,000 worth of drugs here

Drugs with a street value of about $6,000 were recovered by Granite City police and three persons were arrested following a six hour stakeout Thursday night at the home of Danny Farley, 2218 Edwards St.

Officers said they had obtained a warrant to search an auto behind Farley's home but decided to wait to see if anyone approached the car. They began watching the vehicle with five officers Thursday afternoon. At 9:20 p.m., they said, a small red car drove near the auto police were watching and a man and two women got out. The man allegedly opened the trunk of the car being watched and officers immediately appeared and identified them selves.

Candidate alleges 'rules' intentional

Mrs. Helen Hawkins, one of two independent candidates against Democrat Louis Whitsett in the District 26 Madison County Board election Nov. 5, said Friday she is convinced Whitsett intentionally utilized Nameoki Township paper and manpower to issue "streaking regulations" as a joke last spring.

Whitsett, incumbent board member in District 26 and supervisor of Nameoki Township, has denied ever seeing the mimeographed material, saying a facsimile of his signature was used without his authorization.

Hessler said today he thinks instead that he saw it on a township desk. Whitsett last week noted that the stationery was old and contained the names of individuals no longer holding township office. Mrs. Hawkins countered by saying that several divisions of the town government were still using old stationery in 1974. "He did it knowingly," Mrs. Hawkins said. She pictured Whitsett as overconfidently wasting township funds for the "regulations" prank. She noted that he has several years yet to serve as supervisor and was assuming that he would be unopposed Nov. 5 after winning the District 26 Democratic primary in March.

Whitsett said he had nothing to do with the "streaking rules" and called it a false issue in the County Board campaign. He said those who are against his re-election may have produced them in "trying to make me look like a dirty old man."

Mrs. Hawkins, a former township health inspector, is suspicious of the wording, noting that "Rule No. 1" refers to "inspection regulations."

Drug charges

John L. Allison, 22, of 1034 Greenwood St., Madison, was charged with unlawful possession of cannabis (marijuana) and intoxication following his arrest in the parking lot of Jack-In-The-Box Restaurant, 3350 Nameoki Road, at 11:30 p.m. Saturday. Edward W. Dean, 21, of 5024 Lakeview Drive, Pontoon Beach, was charged with improper lane usage, reckless driving and intoxication at the same time. Allison allegedly was a passenger in the Dean auto. A Granite City police officer on duty at Jack-In-The-Box Restaurant observed a car leaving Burger King, 3406

Nameoki Road, "spinning tires and fishtailing," heading south on Nameoki Road in a northbound lane. At Clark Avenue, the auto reportedly turned east into Clark and spun around almost 180 degrees, straightened, spun the tires and headed east on Clark Avenue, police reported. According to the officer, the auto then slid all four wheels, turning sideways in an attempt to turn into the Jack-In-The-Box parking lot where the officer stopped the car. Police allegedly found a plastic bag of cannabis in Allison's shirt pocket and another one in his right pocket.

Much of advice to President calls for less usage of autos

If citizen advisors to the President had their way about it, all Americans would become walkers or bicyclists or bus riders or, at least, car poolers. A. Mitchell, special assistant to the President for public affairs, has advised the Press-Record.

Suggestions for keeping the family car idle or in limited use appear most frequently on the lists of Americans responding to President Gerald Ford's plea for advice on conserving energy and beating inflation.

Other suggestions dealing with the family gas buggy call for combining various shopping errands into one trip, observing the 55-mile speed limit and keeping tires inflated at 30 pounds to improve gasoline mileage.

Advice to substitute light bulbs of lower wattage except in reading lamps came from a Milwaukee realtor, who also urged:

"Just because you can afford it, don't hoard scarce items. It may drive the prices out of sight for poor people with big families. Don't feel it is necessary to eat and drink everything in sight. Just consume what you need for good health. You'll be rewarded by a better figure, too."

The same man urged that housewives fill the oven when they bake, alternate the use of a vacuum cleaner with an ordinary carpet sweeper to save electricity, and use warm or cold water in the laundry instead of hot whenever feasible. He further advised repairing tears "to realize big savings in clothing and linens," and added:

"Adopt this philosophy in buying clothing and furniture: 'If I'd have to borrow the money to pay for it, I'll wait until I've saved the money first.' You'll save an amazing amount in interest, also; and you'll buy everything more wisely when you've had to plan and save for it."

A Chicago trade paper publisher was primarily concerned with turning off unnecessary lights — not just those in his own house but those in office buildings.

Said he: "I drove along Lake Shore Drive the other night around 1 a.m. and the office buildings were lit up like Christmas trees. This goes on all over the country and it costs millions of dollars in energy. It must be stopped."

A Yonkers, N.Y., woman was concerned that people not burn lights on sunny days and that housewives wait for a full load before using the dishwasher. A Washington, D.C., woman urged that high school students walk or ride bicycles to school instead of driving.

On a broader scale, she urged that consumers engage in "careful buying and boycotting" to force grocery prices down, that government agencies enforce anti-trust and price-fixing laws, and that all possible alternatives to imported oil be developed for heating and transportation.

A Jamaica, N.Y., woman had a more novel idea — that all large corporations place their employees on a four-day week instead of laying off people.

An Albuquerque, N.M., man advised taking stock of groceries in the house and not buying items that are in ample supply in the pantry, buying in economical lots and joining with a neighbor in large-lot purchasing, sharing unneeded items with a neighbor, and maintaining all home and automotive items in the best possible manner.

A Fort Lauderdale, Fla., tax accountant urged turning the hot water heater down to where you can take a shower with just hot water instead of tempering it with cold — and then turning it up the evening before the woman of the house plans to wash clothes. He says this saves at least 20 per cent.

The same man adds: "I ride my bike. My car moves only about every other day. I love it."

A Harrisburg, Penn., man was primarily concerned with speeding development of solar energy. Since this will cost billions of dollars, he said, a special tax should be levied on gasoline, heating oil, cooking gas, electricity, coal, and fireplace wood to pay for solar energy research and development.

"Perhaps the most unique idea for fighting inflation came from a Belleville, Ill., man who urged the government to sell a new issue of Series E bonds to be known as 'Inflation Bonds.'"

His plan calls for those bonds to bear a more attractive interest rate than the current Series E bonds and to be purchased through payroll deduction, bond-a-month plans and private checking and savings accounts.

"The American people would support the plan," he told the President.

"I mean all the American people — blacks, whites, religious groups, political parties, labor unions, private businesses, old people, young people, and on and on. We all have a stake in this."

"Every dollar invested in Inflation Bonds would slow the pace of inflation. Since vast sums of money would be coming into the U.S. Treasury from the sale of such bonds, the Treasury would no longer have to compete in the money markets for the billions of dollars per year necessary for the debt service on our national debt, funding defense spending, foreign aid, etc.

"When Uncle Sam stops competing for dollars on our money markets, interest rates would start to come down, and many other desirable things would begin to happen, such as more money for home mortgages."

"Only point the way, and you will find all of us anxious to find something we can do to help."

SIUE to host convention of language assn.

John S. Rendleman, president of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, will deliver the welcoming address at the 16th annual meeting of the Midwest Modern Language Association. SIUE will be the host institution for the 3-day conference to be held in St. Louis at the Chase-Park Plaza Hotel Oct. 31 through Nov. 2.

The association is primarily composed of teachers of English and modern languages at the junior high school, high school, junior college and university level.

"The purpose of the meeting is to promote the exchange of ideas about different teaching techniques and how we can make the teaching of English and other languages more interesting for the students," Roberta Bosse, chairwoman of the conference, said.

"We discuss the problems we have at the various levels of education so that we may be prepared to take students where they are and go from there," Mrs. Bosse said.

During the three-day conference, teachers will learn how computers are used in classroom literary research. Woman and her place in literature also will be discussed. Teaching writing inside and outside the university and college, the study of children's literature, the many ways to teach Russian, the future of Black Studies, the study and teaching of science fiction, along with problems of teaching foreign languages will also be explored by the educators.

The wedding of Miss Marilyn Thompson and Gary Frueh was solemnized at 7 p.m. on Sept. 8 at Eden United Church of Christ, Edwardsville.

Performing the double ring ceremony in a candlelight setting was the Rev. Wesley Bornemann.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. James A. Thompson of Glen Carbon, formerly of Madison. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Frueh of Edwardsville.

For her wedding, the bride chose an organza gown with a Venice lace bodice and sheer sleeves. The A-line skirt swept into a chapel train and blue ribbon and insertion lace accented the Empire waistline and a front panel on the skirt.

She wore a camelot cap of Venice lace and blue rosettes to secure an elbow length veil. Her flowers were a colonial cascade of white carnations and blue forget-me-nots with blue streamers.

Matron of honor Mrs. Patricia Take and the bridesmaid, Miss Donna Frueh, a sister of the groom, chose identical Empire gowns of pale blue chiffon over taffeta. White Chantilly lace enhanced the bodices and cuffs of the bishop sleeves.

Each wore a blue spun straw picture hat and held a bouquet of pink carnations and blue forget-me-nots.

The groom selected Don Take as his best man, Richard Isenberg, Randy Oakie, a nephew of the bride, and Larry Bolla, the groom's cousin, served as groomsmen and ushers.

A reception was held in the church hall after the service. Mary Anne Frueh, a cousin of the groom, attended the guest book.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of Edwardsville High School. They are residing in Edwardsville.

Shower fetes Mrs. James Allen

Mrs. Jean Keeling presided at the organ and also sang "Walk Through This World With Me" and "Always."

The Rev. Henry Crippen performed a double ring ceremony at 7 p.m. in a candlelight setting.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the former Miss Cook was gowned in Chantilly lace and bridal satin.

Long tapered lace sleeves were set into an Empire bodice of Chantilly lace, accented with blue rosettes and blue ribbon at the round neckline and on the sheer yoke. The decorative trim was repeated on the slightly full satin skirt and chapel train. She wore a lace headpiece to hold in place a bouffant veil of bridal illusion. Her bouquet was made up of white and blue carnations and blue baby breath, intermingled with greenery.

Both Mrs. Carolyn Adams, honor attendant, and the bridesmaid, Mrs. Karen Cook, a sister-in-law of the bride, wore full length blue polyester gowns and blue net headpieces. They carried colonial bouquets of white carnations, variegated foliage and white baby breath with white satin streamers.

The groom was attended by Robert Parker as best man. Leo Cook, a brother of the bride, served as groomsman. Leo and Kevin Cook, nephews of the bride, seated the guests.

An open house is planned Sunday honoring Mr. and Mrs. Cecil A. Lawrence, 349 Pershing Ave., Wood River, on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary. The couple formerly resided in Granite City.

Friends and relatives will be received from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday in the Rox-Arena Auditorium, 13th and Tenneyson streets, Roxana. Individual invitations are not being issued for the event, a family spokesman said.

Cooperation at crash scenes recommended by state police

Becoming involved in a traffic accident is a real possibility for the average American driver during his or her lifetime.

"With this strong likelihood, the Illinois State Police feel that you should know what is required of you and what we hope are some useful tips," a spokesman said today.

"Drivers must remember that although patience may be strained because of a smashed grille, or worse, there is little to gain in attempting to settle with the other party who caused the accident, while at the scene.

"Above all, cooperate with the investigating officer; he will attempt, with all the experience and knowledge he can draw upon, to write an objective, fair and unbiased report.

"In the event of a death, injury, or damage to the property of any one party in excess of $100, each individual, in accordance with the Illinois Vehicle Code, must immediately report the accident to the police.

"In addition, a second report must be submitted to the Illinois Department of Transportation," it was related.

"The information required for this report is outlined in a form provided by the investigating officer to the parties involved.

"Each driver must complete and return the report to the Illinois Department of Transportation within 10 days of the accident.

"It is imperative that all the blanks which apply to your accident be filled in. The information submitted in the accident report remains confidential by law and cannot be used against you in any trial.

"The State Police have produced an informative brochure entitled, 'Know What to do in Case of an Automobile Accident.'

"This pamphlet, available free of charge from State Police district headquarters, details what drivers involved in an accident must do and also provides space to fill in pertinent information that will be needed if a collision should occur.

"While the Illinois State Police patrol the highways to help insure your safety, the major responsibility still remains with the person behind the wheel. It is a responsibility many people take too lightly," the spokesman commented.

Amvets oppose amnesty

Members of Amvet Post 204 of Madison unanimously approved at a meeting last week a resolution objecting to any form of amnesty for deserters or persons who left the country to avoid military service. Commander Vasil C. Graville instructed the secretary to send letters to the President of the United States and all elected officials on state and national levels concerning making laws advising them of the members' feelings.

It was the feeling of the group, according to an Amvet spokesman, that no person should be allowed to enjoy the freedoms offered in this country and not be willing to do his share in preserving these freedoms. It also was pointed out that in Communist countries, a person refused to serve "is simply shot or imprisoned for life."

Commander Graville thanked Mike Dutko for his donation of a cooler box which the post needed and Peter Skundrich for installing it.

Thomas Bruncic was complimented for his work at the group's steak fry.

Members Frank Schenck and Andrew Fryntko were thanked by the commander for completing the barbecue pit in time for use at the steak fry.

It was reported that the Women's Amvet Social Club will hold a "Lulu" featuring barbecued pig and Hawaiian dishes on Nov. 19.

New members introduced were Larry Talbert, Floyd Burlingame, and Otis Gossell, all of Granite City.

Members were reminded that 1975 dues are due and the children's Christmas party and evening social are scheduled at Polish Hall on Dec. 21.

Yellow paint, flashing lights for school buses

By MARY LOU MANNING
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

Each school day, approximately one million Illinois school children board or leave 10,000 vehicles enroute to and from school. The process involves more than 16,000 regular and substitute drivers.

To assure that the whole thing is carried out with the utmost of care — and to meet federal regulations — new requirements for school buses were signed into law last month.

They became effective immediately, and the bus safety standards cover both public and private-parochial school buses.

The regulations, which are only a part of the new law, cover everything from the color of the bus bumper to the diameter of the signal lamp beam. They also spell out just what is considered a school bus for purposes of this law.

The Department of Transportation will — as it does now — conduct safety inspections which will include checking to see that the new safety standards are met.

"DOT personnel currently supervise safety checks at approximately 200 privately-owned inspection sites around the state," explained Larry Wort, chief of the department's section of safety operations.

"We will begin checking for compliance with the new law as soon as we have drafted a set of rules and regulations governing it," he continued. "One of the things being worked out is the definition of which vehicles fall into the category we are mandated to inspect."

Wort indicated that the department had anticipated the passage of the bill and sent copies of a rules and regulations draft to school districts, bus manufacturers, etc. From their comments and the final bill, they are compiling the final draft.

Before the new law was passed, school buses were checked by the DOT twice a year, usually during the

Posts bond on four charges

Louis McCoy, owner of the Quad-City Health Systems, 1419a Second St., Madison, posted $10 cash bail Thursday before Judge William Johnson pending a jury trial.

Madison police obtained four warrants, signed by Judge Johnson, against McCoy, charging him with two counts of employment of non-licensed masseuse and two counts of permitting and employing individuals to perform immoral or indecent massage.

Madison police raided the massage parlor Monday, Oct. 7, at 5:40 p.m. with warrants for the owner and an employee.

McCoy was out of town at the time of the raid. Miss Carolyn June Hinson was arrested and charged with two counts of performing indecent massage and two counts of engaging in activity of a masseuse without a license. She was released on a $100 cash bond pending a court appearance.

McCoy and his attorney voluntarily appeared before Judge Johnson.

Warns against GC annexation

Louis Whitsell, Nameoki Township supervisor, who has visited one township resident he does not feel it would be wise for the man to annex his property in Granite City.

The man previously wrote Whitsell, explaining he was thinking of annexing his property in the 2200 block of Gary Avenue into Granite City to obtain sanitary sewer service.

He sought Whitsell's advice and information on progress of the proposed Four-Township Sewer Program to serve Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships.

Whitsell's reply, which was read to the Nameoki Township Board of Auditors Tuesday night, follows:

"In regards to your questions concerning sewers and/or annexation, please be advised that a decision such as this must be made by you alone. However, may I please point out some of the reasons why you should not annex to the city.

"Advantages to joining the city would be very few, since you already have a drainage system, streets, fire protection and plans for sanitary sewers to be installed very soon.

"You will gain full-time police protection, but it will cost you additional taxes, since you will be assessed the municipal rate and the value of your home could be adjusted higher to conform with city assessments.

"Granite City is now facing a financial crisis, due to sewer breakers. Taxes will have to increase even more to pay for this problem.

"We have been actively working on our sanitary sewers for all of the unincorporated areas of Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships.

"The state Environmental Protection Agency has granted $3.5 million to us for sewers, and the federal government will pay $3.5 million. We have introduced legislation to the Madison County Board which passed Sept. 10, 1974, to authorize us sell bonds to finance the remaining portion of the approximately $12 million needed to complete our program.

"On Oct. 29, 1974, a public hearing must be held by law to allow the residents to voice their opinion. We will have this hearing at Granite City High School North at 7:30 p.m.

"To complete our sewers and have them in working order will take a couple of years, depending on the availability of labor and good weather, but to annex to the city just for sewers will not get immediate sewer tap-on either because they also need construction time.

"Please be careful in your judgment and take your time before making a choice, because anything that has been offered will cost you additional money."

Extra-point kick proves downfall as Alton edges South 14-13

A blocked kick proved to be decisive here Friday night as the Alton Redbirds blocked Granite City South's hopes of an initial Southwestern Conference victory.

The 14-13 defeat doomed the host Warriors to remaining in last place for at least another few days. They are 0-5 in the conference and have yet to record a win in seven games, despite some near-misses.

All of Friday night's scoring was bunched together in the early and late portions of the game, which was deadlocked 7-7 through the scoreless second and third quarters.

Coach Stanley Wojcik's Warriors outgained Alton offensively, 17 first downs to 12, and took command by a score of 13-7 with only four minutes and 36 seconds left in the game. But the Redbirds went on to score and take the lead, and then thwarted a South drive with a pass interception.

The Granite City's initial score came on their first possession of the pigskin after kicking off to Alton.

The Redbirds returned the ball to their 32 and recovered their own fumble on the next play. But a pass by Quarterback Jim Roberts was intercepted by Warrior Kirk Champion, who ran it from the Alton 31 to the ten-yard line.

Quarterback Champion handed off to Paul Muehlh for a run to the enemy three, from where Tom Schooley swept to the left and into the end zone. When Bryan Bunjan blocked a placement kick, South had a 7-0 lead.

After holding Alton, the Warriors got good field position as Schooley returned the Redbird punt near midfield to the Alton 36.

But South was forced back into its own territory and punted, Alton launching a drive on its own 43 and alternating passes and runs to reach the Warrior 31. From there, Halfback Mark Mottaz took the ball and outdistanced tacklers to tally a touchdown.

Mottaz kicked the extra point, tying the score.

South regained its momentum and Champion pitched to Schooley who ran for an apparent 64-yard touchdown play but a clipping penalty nullified it. The Redbirds then intercepted and began advancing from the South 43.

Alton had reached the 18 by the time the second quarter began and next ran to the nine. After two incomplete passes, Roberts was forced back to the 14. Charles Ruth, Keith Moran and Greg Terrell were active in defensive plays.

A field goal attempt by Mottaz failed and the Warriors moved from their own 20 but had to punt. Alton recovered its own fumble on the next series but kicked, as did the Warriors and then the Redbirds.

Following runs by Frank Barunica and Schooley, South punted but regained the ball as Champion intercepted a Roberts pass on the Alton 37. Only 20 seconds remained before halftime, and a pass fell incomplete.

South received the third period kickoff but four punts followed and the Warriors were advancing near midfield when the fourth quarter began.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
Mon., Oct. 21, 1974 Page 6

After another kicking exchange, South achieved advantageous field position on a Schooley runback to the Alton 46.

Barunica ran for two yards and Muehlh for four, but a screen pass to Muehlh left the Warriors short of a first down. Schooley and Alton's Ron Meyers left the game after trading punches.

Bunjan kicked to the Alton seven-yard-line and Alton pushed back to the six before punting. The kick was run back from the 23 to the 11. Following an incomplete pass and a 15-yard penalty, Champion passed 25 yards to End Ray Smith for a touchdown with 4:36 left in the game.

The placement kick by Mottaz provided the one-point winning margin.

South started from its 41 and

In what was to prove damaging, the extra-point kick was blocked, limiting the Warrior lead to 13-7. A high snap from center preceded the kick attempt.

The ensuing Redbird drive began after a 22-yard runback by Joe Ward. Leon Scroggins and Doug Hartman halted the runback at the sidelines but Roberts passed to the Alton 44 and then to the South 38.

An offside penalty placed the ball on the 33 and kept the momentum going. Roberts ran to the 22 and passed to the 11 on an interference call before throwing a touchdown pass to Split End Randy Dick. Terrell had been hurt while knocking down an earlier pass at the goal.

The placement kick by Mottaz provided the one-point winning margin.

South started from its 41 and was on its 45 with less than a minute left when Lloyd Gill of Alton intercepted a pass. Roberts kept the ball on the next two plays near the Warrior 35 to run out the clock.

Alton had yardage advantages of 103-37 on passes and 69-33 on runs, with a 13-5 edge in first downs.

The Redbirds completed nine of 21 passes to South's four of 13. No fumbles were lost but each team intercepted twice.

Muehlh carried for 41 yards and Barunica for 35 during the game. Muehlh, Smith, Schooley and Mike Lansaw each caught a South pass.

DETERMINED BLOCKING by such stalwarts as Halfback Frank Barunica (28), far left; aided the GCHS South Warrior football team in its home game Friday night, won by Alton 14-13. Flanker Tom Schooley (84) carries the ball around left end while Barunica blocks Alton's Doug Bonnell (61).

Terry league's harrier champ

Granite City High School South harrier Dwayne Terry capped his senior year with the Warrior cross-country team by capturing Friday's Southwestern Conference meet at Alton's three-mile Rock Springs Park course.

Terry paced the field of runners, representing his school, in a blistering time of 14 minutes and 56 seconds to set a new record for the meet.

The previous record of 15:01 was set last year by Alton's Mike Sawyer.

"He was a happy young man," remarked Warrior mentor Dick Harmon. "It was a three-way race between Terry, Vic Abart and Casey Reinking for nearly a mile."

"Then he just kept stretching out the lead, finishing 11 seconds ahead of the others."

Ahart of Edwardsville and Reinking of Alton finished second and third.

Terry was the only Warrior to finish in a top spot, helping his team earn fifth place with 117 points.

Other South finishers were: Jim Hall 22nd, 16:13; Frank Holmes 26th, 16:18; Sam Nesbit 32nd, 16:35; Greg Ahlers 36th, 16:43; Randy Presswood 41st, 16:58; and Don Meagher 42nd, 17:06.

A field goal attempt by Mottaz failed and the Warriors moved from their own 20 but had to punt. Alton recovered its own fumble on the next series but kicked, as did the Warriors and then the Redbirds.

Following runs by Frank Barunica and Schooley, South punted but regained the ball as Champion intercepted a Roberts pass on the Alton 37. Only 20 seconds remained before halftime, and a pass fell incomplete.

South received the third period kickoff but four punts followed and the Warriors were advancing near midfield when the fourth quarter began.

South regained its momentum and Champion pitched to Schooley who ran for an apparent 64-yard touchdown play but a clipping penalty nullified it. The Redbirds then intercepted and began advancing from the South 43.

Alton had reached the 18 by the time the second quarter began and next ran to the nine. After two incomplete passes, Roberts was forced back to the 14. Charles Ruth, Keith Moran and Greg Terrell were active in defensive plays.

A field goal attempt by Mottaz failed and the Warriors moved from their own 20 but had to punt. Alton recovered its own fumble on the next series but kicked, as did the Warriors and then the Redbirds.

Fight during SIUE victory

A last-half fight spoiled what, to them, was a good collegiate soccer game. The host SIUE Cougar kickers defeated the University of Alabama Huntsville 3-0, Saturday and ran the Cougar's record to 8-1-0.

Nearly 20 minutes of the final half weren't played as a wild fight broke out and the officials, Jay Purcell and Clarence Jonak, decided to call it quits to prevent someone getting seriously injured.

Assumption of East St. Louis scored early and often on its home field Saturday afternoon to defeat the Madison Trojans 3-0.

Halfback Jerome Heavens, established as one of the outstanding high school football players in the nation, lived up to his reputation with four TDs and 28 points, beginning with a five-yard touchdown run in the first quarter. When a conversion run failed, the score stood at 6-0. Heavens now has 91 points for the 1974 season.

Second quarter scoring saw Heavens going across on an 18-yard run, an after-TD run again failing, and then Oscar Jackson scampering 34 yards, followed by a two-point run by Heavens.

Leading 20-0 at halftime, Assumption built its margin to 34-0 in the third period as Heavens scored from four yards out on a run and then, on a 50-yard pass play from Mark Hyland. The first after touchdown run in this period failed but Heavens then picked up a two-pointer on a run after the TD pass.

The Trojans were unable to dent the scoreboard until the fourth quarter, when Halfback Joe Young ran four yards to cap an 81-yard march. Young also ran for a two-point conversion.

The initial Heavens TD was tallied on his team's second possession of the ball, a ten-play series for 76 yards that began midway in the opening quarter.

In the second period, a similar drive covered 64 yards, climaxed by Heavens' touchdown run through the middle of the line.

Madison drove from its own territory to a first down on the Pioneer 26-yard-line. Three plays produced seven more yards, but a final try for another three yards failed and Assumption took over on downs.

The host team next put together an 81-yard march highlighted by Jackson's long run.

Mike Stanley led in tackles with nine, and Steve McCunney made five tackles.

Quarterback Mike Woods completed three passes for 38 yards, including two to Darryl Franklin, while Hyland was completing three of seven and Steve Marty his lone attempt, the two Pioneers accounting for 92 yards.

Along with Young's 162 yards, Dwight Chhillars gained 38 yards, Stanley 22 and Woods, eight.

Close behind Heavens' 127 yards on 21 carries was Jackson with 107 yards on eight runs. The two teams tied in rushing with 232 yards apiece.

Madison led in first downs, 13-11. Assumption lost a fumble and the Trojans had a pass intercepted. The Trojans are now 1-6 for the season and Assumption is 2-4-1.

Next, Madison will visit Breese Mater Dei at 8 p.m. Friday.

Golfers bow

Granite City failed to advance a team, or individual, to this weekend's state golfing finals to be held at the University of Illinois, as Belleville Golf scored 310 at Arlington Golf course this Friday for top honors in a sectional meet.

Belleville Althoff and Edwardsville tied with 314, Belleville West had 319, Carleville 335, Marion 340, Steelville 342 and GCHS South 342.

Riley and Steelville's Randy Burns tied for individual honors with two-over-par 74. A playoff to determine first place was won by Riley after he chipped the ball at the fourth hole for a birdie.

North's lone representative, Tim Behrens, scored an 83 and GCHS South's Don Gresco, district champion, had a 79.

Scoring also for South were: Jim Kafka 82; Carle Bailey 94; Jay Pedora 96; Kevin Worster 92; Terry Ravanelli 94; and Al Collins, 89.

Coach Harmon told the Press-Record, "We expect Dwayne Terry to set the pace at tomorrow's district meet and earn his way to the state finals again this year."

Grid Chiefs top Gator team 6-0

Prather Junior High football Chiefs blanked visiting Grigsby 6-0 Thursday on a three-yard end zone dash by Mitch Steen.

Each team had only one scoring opportunity in the contest. Grigsby's game-tying attempt was thwarted at the one-yard-line.

Braves win 12-0

The Braves of Coolidge Junior High School downed North of Collinsville 12-0 Friday in a grid game at Collinsville.

David Jackson dashed four yards to open the scoring. In the third quarter, Charles Hozian recovered a Collinsville punt fumble to set up a 30-yard TD pass from Todd Toth to Danny Long.

Robin Deterding advances to state

GCHS' South's Robin Deterding, a junior, and Cahokia's Dana Hawkins, a sophomore, earned the right to compete this weekend at Arlington Heights, Ill., in the girls' state tennis meet.

The two advanced to the state finals by their top finish in singles competition on the GCHS South district meet held here Friday and Saturday.

Miss Deterding swept to victory in three straight matches before being decisively 2-6, 4-6 by Miss Hawkins in the championship rounds.

Robin Deterding had defeated Carol Nester of Belleville Althoff, 6-1, 6-1, and Jeanne Boeshart of Belleville East, 6-1, 6-1, and then Suzanne Marks of Collinsville, 6-1, 6-2, to reach the final match.

"She is an all-around athlete," said South's Barbara Kerch in noting her participation in several sports. "I look for her to perform well at state, but the competition is going to be tough."

As a team, GCHS South placed third with seven points. Belleville East and Belleville Althoff tied for first, each with eight. Fourth place went to Cahokia with six, Collinsville had four, GCHS North and Belleville West tied with two, and O'Fallon had one point.

Belleville East's Jeanne Deppor-Sandy Dixon and Althoff's Ruth Auer-Barb Meehan captured doubles competition.

GCHS North's best effort was by the doubles team of Joy Pearson-Tina Taylor, which defeated Cahokia 7-5, 6-0 in the first round and then lost 1-6, 1-6 to Belleville East.

South's doubles team of Lorrie and Pat Dechowat reached the quarterfinals after downing opponents 6-4, 6-2 and 6-1, 6-2 but lost to Althoff 4-6, 6-4.

The top two singles players and doubles teams from each of the state's 30 district meets advanced to the state finals where they will be joined on the courts there by qualifiers from the Chicago Public League meet.

Senior Greg Terrell, 5-9, 170-pound guard at GCHS South hurt Friday during the Warrior-Alton football game, suffered an injury to his right knee. He is to be checked today and, if necessary, undergo x-rays.

Interceptions help Steelers prevail 46-7 for seventh straight

Bethalto High School griders filled the air with passes Friday night, which may have been wise strategy since the host Eagles found it tough to run against visiting Granite City North and mustered only 24 yards from rushing plays.

But the unbeaten Steelers intercepted seven enemy aeries and showed ability to move both through the air and on the ground in chalking up their seventh successive victory. The final score was 46-7 after quarter tallies of 20-0, 26-7 and 38-7.

Linebacker Mark Davis, 6-0, 200-pound senior defensive ace, picked off three Bethalto passes to help give North consistently good field position and frequent possession of the ball.

Leo Pelek intercepted two enemy passes and Mike Donoff and Lenny Wright each snared one.

Coach Tom Wyronek's Steelers eleven scored the first three times it had the ball, including 45-yard and 21-yard touchdowns by Donoff, 6-1, 185-pound senior back.

Wright, 5-11, 171-pound senior, was the leading scorer for North with 16 points, including four point-after-TD kicks, an 11-yard touchdown run and a 16-yard TD pass play from Quarterback Gene Logas.

Donoff almost dominated the initial quarter. The halfback first scored on a 45-yard sprint. After a 45-yard touchdown pass play from Logas to Larry Schleicher, Donoff scored again on a run from the enemy 21-yard-line.

Bethalto did its only scoring early in the second period when Rick Wassman passed 14 yards to Halfback Larry Luckner. Luckner has now tallied six TDs this season.

Charles Sammis kicked the extra point and the score was 20-7. Then Wright ran 11 yards for a touchdown following one of the North interceptions.

In the third quarter, Sammis missed a 47-yard field goal attempt although he has already kicked eight three-pointers this year.

Logas passed 10 yards to Wright and Bill Carr ran 20 yards for a touchdown during the period.

In the fourth quarter, Greg Corey passed 13 yards to Mike Waddell for a TD.

North had only a 13-10 edge in first downs.

Although the many interceptions proved disastrous for Bethalto, the hosts were able to complete 12 passes for 129 yards. The Steelers garnered 105 yards while connecting on five of ten tosses.

North lost two fumbles and recovered one Bethalto fumble. The Steelers netted 215 yards on running plays, including 82 yards by Donoff and 68 yards by Wright.

In their next outing, the Steelers will entertain DeMet at 8 p.m. Friday at the South stadium on Pehling Road.

STEELER STRONGMEN of the undefeated GCHS North football team include these offensive team

Cross-country runners in district competition

One-hundred and forty harriers, representing 20 regional schools, will take to the three-mile, hilly cross-country course at Alton's Rock Spring Park tomorrow to compete in the Illinois High School Association (IHSA) boys' cross-country district meet, beginning at 4 p.m.

Competing will be Alton, Bethalto, Bunker Hill, Carlinville, Collinsville, East St. Louis, Lincoln and Senior Highs, Edwardsville, Gillespie, GCHS North and South, Greenfield, Highland High, St. Paul of Highland, Brooklyn, Mount Olive, Piasa Southwest, Roxana, Triad and Wood River.

The top 10 individuals and members of the first five place teams at the district level advance to Saturday's sectional meet at Springfield to run against qualifiers from Quincy and Springfield district meets.

Last year, Granite City South earned fifth place with 129 points to qualify for the sectional meet.

The host school, for the second consecutive year, captured first place with 44 points. Edwardsville was second with 78, Bethalto third with 86 and East St. Louis Senior fourth with 117 points.

Granite City North was eliminated by virtue of a ninth-place finish with 254 points.

"It is going to be tough," says GCHS North's Pete Robinson, "to make the top five."

he added, "six schools stand an excellent chance of sending their entire teams to the sectional — East St. Louis, Alton, Edwardsville, Highland, and both Granite City high schools."

Robinson expects the Steelers to better their position in this year's meet because "we have developed a one-two punch in Mike Baker and Dave Futch."

Baker, a freshman competing in his first cross-country season, has become the Steeler "ace" with six first-place finishes, including a new two-mile course record at Alton with a time of 10 minutes and 38 seconds to top 140 other runners in a freshmen invitational there. He also became the first North runner ever to win a varsity harrier meet.

Junior Dave Futch joined the squad near mid-season after nursing an injured leg for the first half. He is recovered and running a close second behind Baker.

In one meet, the two finished first in a dead heat on a 2.8-mile course in 15:11. Baker's best time thus far on a three-mile course is 16:24.

Senior Dwayne Terry is expected to lead GCHS South's efforts. In last year's meet at Alton, Terry ran the rolling course in 15:52 for fourth. At the sectional, he finished one second off the 15:37 pace set by Bethalto's Layne Law to qualify for the state event.

Competing in his first state championship meet, captured by Lincoln-Way's Dave Walters in 15:37, Terry placed 102nd in 15:20.

Thus far this season, he has won six meets and was second in one other in which he posted his best time of the season for a 2.8-mile course, 14:32.

In a dual meet with Alton at Rock Springs earlier this season, the Warriors had five runners place in the top ten, with Terry leading his team-mates in 15:32 for fourth. Jim Hall was sixth, 16:23; Sam Nesbit seventh, 16:29; Frank Holmes eighth, 16:42; and Dave Brown ninth, 16:53.

South mentor Dick Harmon and Robinson agree the Rock Springs course is probably the toughest in the area because of its hilly layout, resulting in slower times for athletes as compared to a flat and level course such as the one here at Wilson Park.

Survivors of sectional competition will advance to the state final meet Nov. 2 at the three-mile Detweiller Park course at Peoria.

The top ten individual runners and the top three teams from each of the sectional meets will be joined by two teams and the top 10 individuals from a Chicago Public League meet, at 11 a.m.

Last year at Peoria, Dave Walters rolled to the individual title with the second fastest time ever, 13:57.7. The course record there is 13:50.6 set by Lebanon's Craig Virgin in 1972.

Elmhurst York captured its third straight state title in 1973.

North High kickers topple Assumption

"The game is indicative," says Steeler soccer mentor Bob Kehoe, "of what fans here can expect in the state sub-sectional."

The game referred to by Kehoe was GCHS North's 1-0 win over visiting Assumption Thursday. Both teams were scoreless in regulation time, forcing the contest into two overtime periods.

"Assumption nearly beat us," noted Kehoe, "in the first half of regulation time."

A Pioneer player had kicked the ball at our goal. The ball deflected off Rick Worthen, and Rick Demaree made a diving save right at the goal."

The Steeler victory came on an almost identical play one minute into the second overtime period.

North's Dave Hatscher brought the ball to midfield and pushed it through and behind Assumption's backfield to Kevin Gavlick.

Gavlick took a powershot at the enemy net and the Pioneer goalie attempted a diving effort to stop the ball. He was partially successful in his attempt, but the ball squeezed out of his hands and rolled in front of Joe Utram, who banged it in.

North had two more shots on goal than Assumption's nine. Demaree had five saves to the Pioneer's four, and North had four cornerkicks to the Pioneer's six. Fouls totaled: North seven, Assumption six.

The Steelers, now 17-3, will meet St. Paul of Highland in the first round of sub-sectional action here on Oct. 28.

Assumption is matched with Collinsville in the GCHS North meet. The victors of the two contests will play each other on Nov. 2 to decide the sectional entry.

Gresco birdies as Warriors win

Warrior Don Gresco shot a birdie, one-under par, at the Arlington Golf Course 11th hole Thursday and totaled 35 in leading GCHS South to a 163-191 victory over visiting Mascoutah.

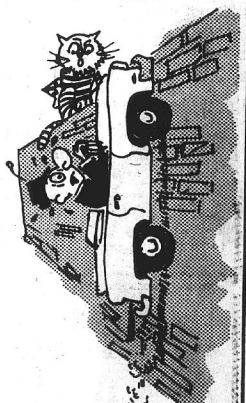

Teammates Craig Bailey scored 41, Kevin Worster 42 and Jim Kafka 45.

Fecurka scores for Trojan sophs

Madison High School's soph gld squad was decisively 27-0 Thursday by Edwardsville at the Trojan Field.

Madison scored when Pete Fecurka intercepted a Tiger pitchout and returned it 50 yards. Warren Wagner provided a two-point conversion run.

Town officers to study taxes

Township Officials of Illinois — about 2,000 strong — will meet in Peoria at the Peoria Hilton Hotel at the association's 55th annual convention starting Sunday, Oct. 27 and concluding on Wednesday, Oct. 30.

Subjects vital to local government and township services are on the convention agenda. The delegates will review and discuss current proposals made by the Joint Legislative Subcommittee on the property tax regarding tax assessing, recent action to return tax collection functions to townships, and new opportunities for townships for application of federal revenue sharing funds, as made possible by recent Illinois legislation.

Extension of programs for mental health, youth and senior citizens and other "people services" will be presented and discussed.

Ways to achieve greater economy and efficiency in local government — and to hold down taxes — will be examined.

Top level Illinois officials will address the convention, including Governor Daniel Walker, Attorney General William Scott, Secretary of State Michael Howlett, State Comptroller George W. Lindberg and Department of Local Government Affairs Director Frank Kirk.

Walker, Howlett, Lindberg and Kirk are scheduled to appear at the Oct. 29 morning session, and Scott will be the banquet speaker that night.

Teri Lee Eck in student Who's Who

Teri Lee Eck, a 1974 graduate of Venice High School, is to be featured in the eighth annual edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students, a student award publication. She is the daughter of Margaret L. Eck, 1314 Robin St., Venice.

Miss Eck has been active in the band, cheerleading, Future Teachers of America, student council, chorus and served as a school reporter. She has received the March of Dimes scholarship and the St. Elizabeth Hospital Auxiliary Scholarship. She plans to attend the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville to major in nursing.

Other dignitaries who will appear on the program include State Senators John J. Nimrod, Skokie; Kenneth Hall, East St. Louis; Donald A. Moore, Midlothian; and Clifford B. Latherow, Carthage, along with State Rep. Roland F. Tipeword, Taylorville, and officials of several State of Illinois and U.S. government departments.

Warren Behr, supervisor of Waukegan Township, will be the keynote speaker, and a welcoming address will be given by Warren Reynolds, city councilman-at-large of Peoria.

"Township government has been strengthened in recent years by legislative action and by township performances," said Troy A. Kael, executive secretary of the Township Officials of Illinois. "We'll be displaying and bolstering that vitality at the 1974 convention."

National College Fair in area

A National College Fair will be held at Stouffert's Riverfront Inn on Friday, Nov. 8, from 3 p.m. to 9 p.m., and Saturday, Nov. 9, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The event, sponsored by the National Association of College Admissions Counselors (NACAC), is free to the public, with a special invitation to high school students and their parents, high school graduates, college transfers and graduates, veterans and others seeking help to continue their post-secondary education.

Although a National College Fair has some elements in common with college days, career days, college nights and visits to high schools by admissions officers, it is a new post-secondary guidance activity.

It provides a "full-service center" where a student and his parents can, in a single day and at one location, consult with representatives of many institutions and local, state and national testing, scholarship and financial aid agencies.

At the fair, post-secondary institutions from 42 states will be represented by members of their admissions staffs who will be available at booths to provide information about each institution's admissions procedures, financial aid opportunities and academic programs to interested students and parents.

In addition, group counseling and information sessions will be offered to provide general information about the admissions process, entrance examinations, financial aid, career and college-degree programs.

When a student registers, he will be given a complimentary copy of the National College Fair Directory containing information about colleges and universities which have information booths at the fair.

A set of maps locating all of the two-year and four-year colleges and universities in the U.S. will be available at the NACAC booth.

Participating colleges and universities registered for the St. Louis Fair include SIUE, St. Louis U. and Washington U.

One of the highlights of the evening was the presentation of a plaque to George "Wes" Lipscomb, given in recognition of his long years of service to the lodge. Lipscomb currently is serving as North Moose of the Southern Illinois Legion Unit 101.

Candidates enrolled as new members were Robert Kennerly, Earl Warnhoff, Eugene

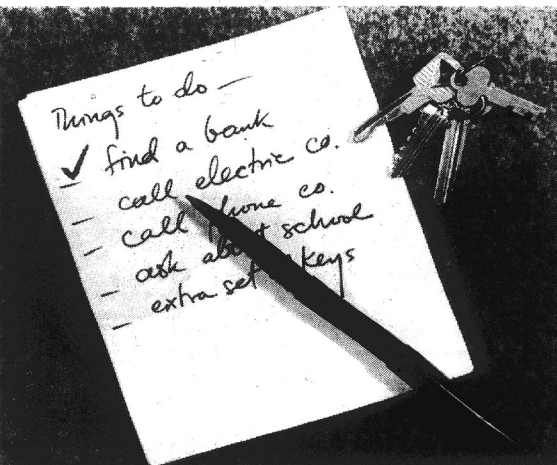

Barlow, Robert Wilson, David Clayton, Albert Bagi, Richard Buecker, W. K. Windland, Ray Lewis, Robert Becker, Clifford Parrish, Frank Jernigan, Richard Delaney, James Slayton and Howard Weeks.

Prizes for recruiting new members were won by John Kibbons, and Wes Lipscomb. Dinner was served by Mesdames Jean Teller, Phyllis Lane, Shirley Greene, Mildred Votupaul, Karen Andrews and Donna Westbrook, members of the Women of the Moose.

MOTEL FIRE

The utility room of Thelma's Motel, Box 241, Rural Route Six, Edwardsville, located near the foot of Sunset Hill was damaged by fire at 6:45 p.m. Tuesday. Mitchell firemen said the probable cause was a hot water heater. They estimated damage at $6,000 to the building and $2,500 to contents. Thirteen Mitchell firemen were at the scene an hour and a half.

Nameoki seeks workers under county's program

A request for Nameoki Township to utilize some of the men who will be offered jobs under the federal government's latest employment program has been made by Nameoki Township Supervisor Douglas Whitsell in a letter to Dan Churovich, director of the Madison County Manpower Placement Office.

In Whitsell's letter, read to the Nameoki Town Board of Auditors Tuesday night, the supervisor proposes that the township utilize 17 men hired under the program.

Whitsell told Churovich he understands $726,328 has been allocated to Madison County for the first year of the program to employ persons presently unemployed. He said the township would like to participate in the program for any or all of the 17 positions the township could make available.

The township could place seven men in the environmental cleanup program, six on the highway department, one as a custodian, one as an assistant to the rabies control officer and health officer, and two to help the collector and the assessor. The township would not have to pay the wages for the two-year period of the program, which is fully-funded by the federal government.

The board announced it will open bids Friday, Oct. 25, on a proposed surface drainage ditch from Parkview Estates ditch to the Alton & Southern Railroad tracks. The auditors said they are meeting with the owner of nearby property to see if he wishes to pay a portion of the extra expense of a north-south drainage system which would empty his property into the township's system.

Auditor W. Lee Adams reported he had used a township backhoe and attempted to open a closed drainage ditch behind a resident's home across Route 162 from Stallings School, but the backhoe became mired in mud and he was unable to complete the project.

He said he would complete the task when the ground has dried. Adams volunteered his labor after Highway Commissioner Albert Bell declined to do the work, saying he felt having his department improve drainage on private property would be a violation of the law.

The board deferred discussion on a request to improve the drainage behind homes on Angela Drive by digging a ditch there.

Also held for future discussion was a request for a ditch to drain the Roney Drive area into the present system to remove standing water from the Dobrey Slough.

Bell said the state had planned to grade the Roney Drive area to drain into the new interim drainage system for Dobrey Slough, but had failed to act on their plans. Bell said he understood the state had difficulty obtaining the needed easements for the work.

Bell also said the East Side Levee and Sanitary District had promised to order pipe for an underground drainage line there, but had failed to follow through on that promise.

Township Attorney Nick D. Vasiloff said he felt the levee district should be responsible for all of the drainage programs discussed, but that the township may be able to continue the programs as eliminating health hazards by using federal revenue sharing and having all programs approved by the township's Board of Health.

"The money should be spent for people purposes," he said, adding he felt the drainage programs were helping the people far more than the proposed new town hall. Plans for the town hall were abandoned last month.

Adams said the auditors would meet later to discuss repairs needed on the town hall, but indicated he was glad plans to remodel and expand the present building had been dropped.

The board again withheld action on a request for it to endorse continued involvement by the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission (SIMAPC) in programs to satisfy wastewater planning and grant requirements.

A woman resident complained that trains are passing at high speeds behind Stallings School and asked the board to support efforts by the parents of the school children to have the speed limits for trains in that area reduced.

The woman said the rapidly moving trains are a danger to children playing nearby and if a train should leave the tracks, "there would be nothing left of that school," she stated.

The auditors agreed to draft a letter and send it to the state's attorney general seeking a lower speed limit for trains in that area.

The board heard other requests to improve street signs on Deborah Court, to improve lighting and police protection there, to authorize a no-parking zone for the 2100 block of Fern Ave. to tear down a tree jeopardizing a home, and to speed efforts on obtaining fire protection for the East Madison area.

The board voted to change the date and time of the next regular meeting from Oct. 28 to Saturday, Oct. 26 at 8 a.m.

BICENTENNIAL CELEBRATION was held early by an eighth-grade Social Studies class at Coolidge Junior High School as part of a class project assigned by Instructor Robert Gurley (far right). The 50x50-inch cake, resembling the American flag and outlined with 200 candles, was baked and decorated in two days by Miss Kim Johnson (third from left) with the assistance of Pat Mayfield (far left), a senior at GCHS South. Helping to hold the cake, comprised of 24 differently flavored smaller cakes, are Ann Baker (second from left) and Cindy York (fourth from left), two of the 32 students in the class who were eagerly awaiting the slicing, along with teachers, workers, and other students of the school.

Burditt backs revenue sharing

U. S. Senate candidate George Burditt, in a meeting last week with mayors and village presidents, pledged to fight to continue federal revenue sharing, and expressed his confidence in local government officials rather than in Washington bureaucrats.

Burditt declared, "The closer government is to the people, the better I like it. Revenue sharing lets local officials decide how to spend our tax money, and they can certainly do a more careful and efficient job of it than some bureaucrat in Washington."

Revenue sharing was established by the State and Local Fiscal Assistance Act of 1972, and in the first 18 months of the program Illinois received $682 million, Burditt noted. He continued:

"When someone is spending my money, I like to think he knows what he is doing in terms of priorities. I have a lot more confidence that Tom Brown and the village board in LaGrange, for example, know what we need than some hidden Washington bureaucrat."

"This is money our local government officials have used to provide services to senior citizens, build flood control facilities, start day care centers, support area mental health programs, and contribute in many other ways to the solution of local problems."

"This is also money which has stopped tax hikes in many municipalities. Time and time again, mayors from all over this state tell me, 'If we didn't have revenue sharing, we'd just have to raise local taxes.' These same mayors tell me revenue sharing means to phase out a cornerstone of the state's rights tradition."

"Mel Laird said the other night that revenue sharing has permitted the phasing out of 367 federal programs, and do I ever like that!"

"And what does my opponent have to say about this obviously positive, locally-oriented effort? Sen. Stevenson says revenue sharing 'distorts our priorities' (and) deprives the federal government of the means to support our schools or reform the welfare system."

He said, "... when reason percolates to the top again, it revenue sharing will be phased out and then the federal government will be in a better opportunity to exercise its federal responsibilities, including the control of our economy, through the maintenance of a sound fiscal responsibility which we can't do by giving away $6 billion a year."

"That statement not only tells you a lot about his revenue sharing stand, but it also gives you a clear idea of how he wants the federal government to control everything. That simply is not our system of government," Burditt asserted.

"To phase out revenue sharing means to phase out a cornerstone of the state's rights tradition."

"To put the responsibility for local decision-making back into the hands of the Washington maze is to stifle local action programs. And to depend on the federal government to do everything is simply irresponsible nonsense."

Anne DeRuntz is Merit Scholarship semifinalist

Anne De Runtz, a student at Granite City High School South has been named a National Merit Scholarship semifinalist.

The Merit Program semifinalists were the highest scorers in each state on the 1973 Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test-National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT-NMQST), administered to over one million students in about 17,000 schools nationwide.

The semifinalists, most of whom will complete high school and enter college in 1975, will be identified to regionally accredited U. S. colleges and universities. Many semifinalists find this recognition useful in gaining admission to the college of their choice and in obtaining financial aid.

According to Edward C. Smith, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC), "The approximately 15,000 semifinalists represent the top one-half of one per cent of the nation's most academically talented young people. The students bring honor to themselves, their families, their teachers, and their communities."

Many of these students, those who make the best use of their ability to become productive at the high intellectual levels of which they are capable, will be future leaders in business, industry, and the professions."

Semifinalists must qualify as finalists to advance in the competition of Merit Scholarships. To become Merit Program finalists, the semifinalists must be endorsed by their schools and recommended for scholarship consideration, confirm their high PSAT-NMQST scores with an equivalent performance on a second examination (the SAT), provide evidence of high academic performance, and supply information about their other accomplishments.

Over 90 per cent of the semifinalists are expected to become finalists; each finalist will be considered for Merit Scholarships.

In the nineteen annual Merit Programs completed to date, over 38,000 students have won Merit Scholarships valued at more than $104 million.

NMSC will release the names of Merit Scholarship winners through the news media in three public announcements in 1975: winners of one-time National Merit $1,000 Scholarships will be named on April 23; the announcement of college-sponsored four-year Merit Scholarships winners will be made on April 30.

Scholarships and will receive a Certificate of Merit in recognition of distinguished performance in the competition.

Every finalist competes for one of the National Merit $1,000 scholarships, allocated on a state basis according to each state's percentage of the total U. S. graduating high school seniors. These National Merit $1,000 scholarships are one-time awards supported by business and industrial sponsors and by NMSC's own funds.

Winners will receive a single payment of $1,000 next fall after enrolling as full-time college undergraduates. A Selection Committee of experienced college admissions officers and secondary school guidance counselors will be asked to select the 1,000 winners nationwide. The committee will judge in combination all information about each finalist—his high school academic record, accomplishments, extracurricular activities, and test scores.

Many of the finalists will also be considered for an estimated 2,000 four-year renewable Merit Scholarships financed by some 550 sponsors, including corporations, foundations, professional associations, colleges, unions, and trusts. Winners of renewable Merit Scholarships receive up to $1,500 (or more) during each of the four college undergraduate years, depending on the award.

In the nineteen annual Merit Programs completed to date, over 38,000 students have won Merit Scholarships valued at more than $104 million.

NMSC will release the names of Merit Scholarship winners through the news media in three public announcements in 1975: winners of one-time National Merit $1,000 Scholarships will be named on April 23; the announcement of college-sponsored four-year Merit Scholarships winners will be made on April 30.

Encourage progress on sewer

The Chouteau Business Association members agreed at the group's regular meeting here last week to encourage progress on the proposed Four-Township Sewer Program "as rapidly as possible."

During the meeting at Charlie's Restaurant, members agreed to have the association send a letter to Chouteau Township Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks, chairman of the county's Four Township Sewer Committee, asking Sparks for a progress report and inviting him to speak to the group at its next regular meeting Tuesday, Nov. 12.

The members also made plans for a Christmas party to be held Dec. 18 at Charlie's Restaurant.

Governor Walker's Bi-State Agency commissioners aren't doing badly, despite what is being said in Missouri and some parts of this county

Appointment of Mayor Paul Schuler of Granite City to the board of commissioners of the Missouri-Illinois Bi-State Development Agency has drawn the skepticism of the Post-Dispatch and Alton Telegraph. Because Mayor Schuler's early votes as a commissioner appear to have been immensely sound, the whole topic justifies comment.

Officials are aware of the longtime bias by some Altonians toward the Quad-Cities, apparently associated with the drift toward a community of a more dominant voice in Madison County government and politics.

Three days after the Schuler appointment, the Telegraph editorialized that "Gov. Dan Walker has adopted the time-honored policy among Democratic governors of heading the Madison County Democratic chairman's recommendations for appointments... leaning toward someone in the Tri-City area... because most of his party strength and many of his political debts lie in that area."

"Democratic Chairman Walter T. 'Buck' Simmons, of course, can join Gov. Walker in a stand for real statesmanship by making a thorough survey of the county in his search for such a representative. 'To begin with, he should draft a list of possible qualifications helpful to such an appointee in discharging his responsibilities, and proceed from there in a thorough search. Such a procedure could well raise the county's respect for both the official and Chairman Simmons and his party.'"

Although Mayor Schuler is extremely busy, it would be hard to find someone more knowledgeable about current transportation needs and other matters dealt with by Bi-State. He is committed to the welfare of this community, county and state as well as that of the region.

For too long the Quad-Cities have been greatly under-represented on the agency board. The mayor's voice is needed, as well as additional Illinois-oriented voices rather than appointees who—in too many cases—have been overly subject to Missouri pressure.

The Post-Dispatch said that Bi-State commissioners "have rejected the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council's plan for development of port facilities here but for the wrong reason. (It) would have assigned Bi-State a mere coordinator's role in the implementation of port development plans, hardly fitting for an agency with the power to plan, build, own and operate port facilities on both sides of the Mississippi River."

"Three Illinois commissioners (Mayor Schuler, Mrs. Carmen Moody and Mrs. Blanche Helwig) turned down the Gateway Council's plan not because it under-utilized Bi-State but because, in their view, it vested too much power in the agency."

"Apparently they don't want to do anything to impinge on the operation of the Kaskaskia, Tri-City and Southwest Regional Port Districts, all on the Illinois side of the river. But if that is indeed their reason, then they should not be members of the Bi-State board of commissioners," the Post-Dispatch continued.

"They are in effect representing other interests to the detriment of those they were appointed to promote. If Bi-State is to achieve its potential for providing regional services, it must have commissioners who are forward-looking, innovative, bold and, above all, regional-minded. The Bi-State board is no place for timid parochialism and it is evident that for too many years now that is what the board has had."

"Gov. Christopher Bond, to his credit, has tried to revivify Bi-State with his appointments, but his efforts will be frustrated if Gov. Daniel Walker does not also name forward-looking commissioners."

Many Illinoisans would respond that not every regional proposal is sound, just as not every city, county, state or federal idea is sound. Each must be considered on its merits or lack of merits by officials who think for themselves and resist being stampeded.

An increased degree of regional port planning may well be implemented. But the port power play that seemed to be materializing this year contained not only surface niceties but a lot of undisclosed beneath-the-surface activity that perhaps should be explored in more detail.

Yet, some of the port-related documents, reports and news occurrences have been given only scant mention in some of the newspapers of this region, including the dailies. And leading figures in the East-West and Bi-State were permitted to inaccurately describe some of the port study recommendations, without reprimand or correction, then or later.

It's not a matter of "trusting us," as some of those leading regional figures so often urge, but defining "us." Illinois citizens and officials have as much right as anyone else to their own thought processes and conclusions.

The three relatively new Bi-State members, all appointed by Gov. Walker, were the only ones who stood up to be counted against the stampede efforts. So far, Gov. Walker seems to be making some good selections, and if Mr. Simmons is partly responsible, he deserves some of the public's thanks.

Social Security funding

Is it adequate? In jeopardy?

By BERT SEIDMAN
Director
Department of Social Security
AFL-CIO

The shrill cry of alarm about the fiscal soundness of Social Security in a Wall Street Journal editorial, "No kidding, Mr. Meany" is completely unwarranted.

The editorial zeroes in on the charge that on June 30, 1973, "the net unfunded liability of the system was $2.1 trillion."

It then goes on to declare, "What this means is that current members of the system, working and retired, have been promised $2.1 trillion more—in constant dollars—than they will hereafter pay into the system."

We asked the Social Security Administration's actuaries who told us it is a figure they never publish because it is absolutely meaningless.

It is meaningless because it is based on the ridiculous assumption that those currently in the system will continue to pay taxes and draw benefits but there will be no new entrants into the system.

This makes no sense because by law practically all employees and the self-employed too must be covered by Social Security. Compulsory coverage is a feature of social security systems all over the world and nobody in his right mind is proposing to change it.

Under certain assumptions (unforeseen because they relate to the recent decline in the birthrate) there could be an actuarial deficit over the next 70 years amounting to 3 per cent of payroll.

If this is a problem, it should not be a cause for undue concern because it can be readily met by payments to the system from general revenues as in social security systems throughout the world.

Force adjustments involving what can be expected anyway if our economy can be kept healthy—more women and elderly persons in the labor force—will also help to balance the books.

We just don't share such exaggerated fears about the American economy.

We don't expect permanent 10 per cent inflation or flat real wages.

We think the American people will insist on a growing economy with reasonably stable prices which will fully support an adequate level of Social Security payments.

But the editorial leaves us in the dark as to what the Wall Street Journal thinks ought to be done.

Would it join the Secretary of the Treasury in proposing to cut Social Security benefits in this period when rising inflation has forced many of the elderly to scrounge garbage cans and subsist on pot food?

Or would it insist that we abolish Social Security and turn everyone over to the tender mercies of the private insurance companies?

As for us, we are working to improve every aspect of the system—benefits as well as financing.

And to allay anyone's fears, we haven't the slightest doubt that Social Security will continue to be available to pay the Social Security benefits union members have been promised when they retire."

Incidentally, SSA tells people who insist on having the $2.1 trillion statistic that it is meaningless. If the Wall Street Journal was so informed by SSA, it concealed this fact from its readers.

Contrary to the impression the editorial creates, we in the AFL-CIO do not believe that the Social Security system is perfect or that it couldn't stand any improvement.

Of course it can.

For one thing, its benefits should be improved—not necessarily across-the-board, except automatically as prices increase, but for certain groups like the disabled and early retirees—and its financing should be made more equitable.

Although the editorial doesn't mention it, there is also a possible long-term fiscal problem which may need attention down the road.

Under certain assumptions (unforeseen because they relate to the recent decline in the birthrate) there could be an actuarial deficit over the next 70 years amounting to 3 per cent of payroll.

If this is a problem, it should not be a cause for undue concern because it can be readily met by payments to the system from general revenues as in social security systems throughout the world.

Force adjustments involving what can be expected anyway if our economy can be kept healthy—more women and elderly persons in the labor force—will also help to balance the books.

We just don't share such exaggerated fears about the American economy.

We don't expect permanent 10 per cent inflation or flat real wages.

We think the American people will insist on a growing economy with reasonably stable prices which will fully support an adequate level of Social Security payments.

But the editorial leaves us in the dark as to what the Wall Street Journal thinks ought to be done.

Would it join the Secretary of the Treasury in proposing to cut Social Security benefits in this period when rising inflation has forced many of the elderly to scrounge garbage cans and subsist on pot food?

Or would it insist that we abolish Social Security and turn everyone over to the tender mercies of the private insurance companies?

And to allay anyone's fears, we haven't the slightest doubt that Social Security will continue to be available to pay the Social Security benefits union members have been promised when they retire."

Wall Street Journal—A letter received from the AFL-CIO should be read. We hope that it constitutes the opening of a continuing discussion on the soundness of the Social Security system between organized labor, the Wall Street Journal and others who wish to participate.

This forum has become necessary because the usual one, on Capitol Hill, has become closed to this sensitive issue.

Even those politicians who are disturbed about the condition of the system are wary about bringing it up, fearing they will be identified as enemies of the elderly.

Yet the questions are there and are, in our opinion, of immediate and critical importance.

In our previous comments, we have attempted to define two different problems.

One is actuarial. The other is economic.

Bert Seidman, director of the AFL-CIO's Social Security department, has responded to the actuarial issue. We hope to elicit a response to the economic one from the two as bound together.

As noted earlier, the net unfunded liability of the system as of June 30, 1973, amounted to $2.1 trillion, a figure Treasury reports has now grown to $2.4 trillion as of June 30, 1974.

Seidman quite rightly observes that the Social Security Administration does not publish this number; it is not required to do so.

But by law, Treasury must do so. And while it may be misleading to an SSA actuary, it cannot be dismissed by an economist.

The number represents the difference between the current participants who have been promised over the next 75 years and what they will contribute to the system.

That difference of $2.4 trillion, which was computed by SSA, is also discounted to its present value—meaning it would take that much today earning interest to support benefit levels.

Seidman is also correct when the number does not take into account future participants, including those not yet born, who will be required to pay this $2.4 trillion plus interest to the current participants with their future contributions to the system.

The question is how much future participants will have to cough up to meet current promises and that the answer is $2.4 trillion plus interest in some per cent. The SSA does not value it that way.

The deficit Mr. Seidman refers to in the official SSA figure that assumes a stream of entrants, which is based on a set of SSA projections into the future and amounts to 3 per cent of payroll—that is, a mere 3 per cent of all payrolls of all U.S. companies for the next 75 years.

Under this method of accounting, the deficit amounts to a trifling $1.3 trillion, also discounted to present value.

Even Mr. Seidman might get some hint of our concern by observing that this deficit increased to the present $2.4 trillion from $16 billion over the 12 months between the last two calculations.

Between the calculations, the SSA took a look at the 1970 census and adjusted its assumptions about how many future participants there will be to pay the $2.4 trillion, how much they will earn and what the inflation rate will be.

For even the $1.3 trillion to hold up, the current SSA assumptions will have to come true.

That is, women of child-bearing age will have to have 2.1 births; not the current 1.9 and falling.

Annual real wage increases will have to average 2 per cent, which they have not done for 20 years.

And the rate of inflation in the Consumer Price Index in the long run must average no more than 3 per cent.

Mr. Seidman believes these actuarial assumptions can be met through the insistence of the American people that they be met.

But there is the economic problem.

The economy can grow only through the formation of capital, the deferral of current consumption in order to produce future goods and services (including that $2.4 trillion which in the economist's problem is the appropriate number to look at).

The Social Security system, operated on a pay-as-you-go basis, forms no capital. It simply transfers current consumption from producers to non-producers.

Closing the deficit through general revenues compounds the problem.

Some of the SSA projections are met. Assume Congress hereafter does not add new beneficiaries to the system.

Then the low deficit of $1.3 trillion, made up out of general revenues over 75 years, would require tens of billions per annum.

Taxing the private sector by this additional amount, none of which goes into capital formation, makes it impossible to achieve the required economic growth to meet the deficit.

And of course the deficit will rise next year and the year after that as long as the three SSA projections are not met, with ever increasing demands on general revenues.

Mr. Seidman asks what should be done. There are in general only three possibilities.

Cut benefit levels drastically and stop talking about capital formation. Or, leave benefit levels alone and depend on profits that build the amount of capital that will be available.

Or, something in between.

But really the first thing that has to be done is the broadening of the public's understanding that something has to be done.

At least the letter from the AFL-CIO moves us in that direction.

Tribune favors Dixon

Chicago Tribune—One of the best investments Illinoisans can make with their vote this November is to support the election of Democrat Alan J. Dixon for state treasurer.

In the four years Mr. Dixon has held his office, he has established a reputation for fairness, efficiency, and dedicated public service that has been envied and applauded by elected officials in both major parties.

Through careful investment, he has been able to produce a high return on state funds.

At the same time, he has deposited these funds for the maximum benefit to local communities, many of them in depressed areas.

Unlike some of his predecessors, Mr. Dixon has not used his office for partisan purposes. He opposed Mayor Daley's Chicago machine by fighting for a Republican measure providing county treasurer with a public money in interest bearing accounts.

County clerk candidate is qualified

To the Editor:

As business and professional women who are working to elevate the status of women, we promote the interests of business and professional women, we the members of District XIV of the Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, endorse the candidacy of Evelyn B. Bowles for the office of county clerk in Madison County.

We feel her 22 years of experience as deputy county clerk under the leadership of Eulalia Hotz, provides Madison County voters with a qualified candidate.

A former school teacher, she attended Illinois State University, Greenville College and Southern Illinois University.

Associated for 21 years as a member of Local 799, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, she has served as a precinct committeewoman for the past 14 years and has been active in organizations associated with her political party.

We strongly urge all Madison County voters to give sincere thought to voting for Evelyn M. Bowles, a qualified, experienced candidate.

Living standards hinge on production

To the Editor:

Most persons agree that inflation now is the major economic, social and political problem of the nation.

The economies of the world now are reaping the results of 40 years of inflationary policies.

And the political or business leaders are willing to take the steps necessary to control inflation.

The impact of worldwide inflation is a direct challenge to the stability of governments and peace throughout the world.

Neither the developed nor the less-developed countries are immune to the erosion in purchasing power coming with the inflation.

The worldwide inflation of prices results from many complex factors representing an accumulation of short-run governmental decisions throughout the world.

Its runaway aspects were triggered by a number of unfavorable weather conditions having caused a worldwide realization that fossil fuels are limited.

The "cheap food" that had been accepted generally as a continuing right was largely due to low-cost petroleum and nitrogen supplies.

The business community and the educational system have encouraged an unquestioned faith in our price system to meet the needs of the economy in this country.

A distribution theory and the need to really understand the institutional framework within which business and government make decisions have been almost aside.

The many factors contributing to inflation can be put mostly under five headings:

1. One factor is the "balance of payments" problem. No country can continually operate with a net credit balance in its international accounts and maintain a currency acceptable to the rest of the world.

In any one year, a nation may have a deficit, but there have been mighty few times in the last 20 years that the United States has had a surplus in its balance of payments.

This implies that to maintain a favorable balance of payments, consumers in this and other countries may need to restrict the kinds of goods and services they would like to consume.

2. Another major cause is deficit financing. For the last 40 years in this nation, the state and local governments most of the time have been spending more money than they receive.

This places excessive costs on future generations, encourages wasteful spending, and creates bureaucratic organizations that become oblivious to their reason for existing.

3. Labor productivity also has a place in the causes of inflation.

To the consumer, inflation generally means being able to buy less with his income each succeeding year. If per capita production increases each year, and if the production is consumed either directly or indirectly, purchasing power function as was originally intended.

4. Related causes of inflation are price controls in savings. One of the factors contributing to labor productivity is to invest capital in the means for production.

It should be pointed out, however, that most persons seem more concerned with consumption than production.

Also, research to capital invested in overall production is less than for capital invested in short-term consumption items for the luxury market, so the limited savings are not invested in ways to get the best long-run national gains.

Furthermore, capital investments by governments have gone primarily for non-productive purposes to rectify mistaken judgments and to protect the status quo of certain vested interests.

5. A fifth general cause of inflation can be classified as misallocated production.

Numerous groups, for various political reasons, get special interest legislation of a "park harvest" variety that encourages wasting scarce resources.

This waste is paid by the consuming taxpayer in higher prices and, if continued long enough, results in runaway inflation.

Musso efficiency, investing praised

To the Editor:

One of the best investments Madison County residents can make with their votes this Nov. 5 is to support the re-election of Democrat George Musso for county treasurer.

In the years Mr. Musso has held this office, he has established a reputation for fairness, efficiency and dedicated public service that has been envied and applauded by elected officials in both major parties.

Through careful investment, he has been able to produce a high return on county funds.

At the same time, he has deposited these funds for the maximum benefit to local communities, many of them in depressed areas.

Unlike some of his predecessors, Mr. Dixon has not used his office for partisan purposes. He opposed Mayor Daley's Chicago machine by fighting for a Republican measure providing county treasurer with a public money in interest bearing accounts.

Group called political now, not civic

To the Editor:

The purpose of this letter is to explain why we, as former charter members of Truth and Action, are no longer connected with the organization in any way.

Truth and Action seems to have departed from its original concept.

It was to be, first and foremost, a civic organization, formed for the purpose of the betterment of the community.

With the present dissension and the attempts by some members to split it into political factions, we feel it can no longer function as was originally intended.

Visual experts devising new tests for drivers

A committee of Illinois visual experts is reviewing testing procedures in Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett's office, looking for better ways to determine a motorist's fitness to see where he is driving. Howlett discussed the com-

Christmas starts Tuesday for U.S. Postal Service

Christmas will start on Tuesday for postal service managers throughout the 18-state Central Region at a sectional meeting in Chicago for discussion of plans for handling this season's holiday season mail, according to Herbert Backs, postmaster of the Granite City post office.

Backs said that Hubert L. Brown, sectional center facility manager-post office, East St. Louis, will be among some 200 service managers who will attend the Chicago meeting with Regional Postmaster General Clarence B. Gels.

Gels said that "The 1973 Christmas mail volume in the central region amounted to three billion letters and parcels, about one third of the national volume of nine billion pieces," he said. "We expect the 1974 volume to be about the same as 1973, a year that set a record for holiday mail, and we will be developing plans at the meeting to again deliver this year's Christmas mail on a prompt, efficient basis."

Brown added, "Each year at this time the Postal Service issues a call for public cooperation in its 'mail early' Christmas program. Last year, faced with what appeared to be a crippling fuel shortage, we modified that message to 'mail earlier,'" he said.

"Last year, it worked like it has never worked before. The public responded. As a result, we enjoyed one of the best Christmas delivery seasons on record," Brown said.

The fuel crisis may have faded somewhat since last year, but the need for public cooperation hasn't diminished one bit. "We still need your help," he said.

"While we have the manpower, machinery and expertise to handle it, we still need one more ingredient for a successful Christmas—the public. By mailing cards and parcels early in the holiday season, each individual can play a direct role in assuring that his or her mail will be handled quickly and expeditiously. Most important, they will know that it will reach its destination on time," he said.

Brown noted the following mailing deadlines for this holiday season: Nov. 30, all surface parcels to Alaska and Hawaii; Dec. 10, surface parcels within the continental United States; Dec. 15, surface greeting cards within the United States including Alaska and Hawaii.

Dec. 20, air greetings and parcels to Alaska and Hawaii; Dec. 21, airmail parcels and letters within the continental United States.

Brown stressed the importance of using ZIP codes for both local and out of town mail. "Letters going across town need ZIP codes just as much as letters going across the country," he stated.

He said that Christmas stamps will go on sale at the local post office Oct. 24. Two stamps which will be available at all post offices are based on a 19th Century French altarpiece painting and on a 19th Century Currier and Ives lithograph.

The third, a Christmas stamp depicting the dove of peace weathervane atop Mount Vernon, home of George Washington.

The pre-cancelled stamp has a pressure sensitive adhesive and is being used to test pre-cancellation as a means of speeding seasonal mail processing. It will be available in limited quantities at all post offices for stamp collectors.

Girl, 13, is struck by car

Miss Roberta Gruenfelder, 13, of 2018 Fourth St., Madison, was injured when she ran onto McCambridge Avenue and was struck by the car of John Andrasko, St. Louis, near Third Street at 7:20 a.m. Friday.

A Madison County sheriff's deputy who witnessed the accident, said the impact threw Miss Gruenfelder about six feet into the air and she fell about 12 feet from where she had been struck.

She was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where she was admitted with a hematoma to the right side of her head and contusions to her left thigh and left hip. X-rays were taken of her skull, spine, chest and left hip.

Dr. Edward E. Perry, of Salem, is chairman of our Vision Care Committee," said Howlett. "It is composed of eleven prominent optometrists and ophthalmologists from all sections of Illinois."

"With their help, we will find how to improve the simple techniques we now use for measuring a driver's license applicant's visual ability."

"In our license stations, we use a Titmus Vision Tester to measure clearness of vision and color perception."

"If an applicant can read the 20-40 line on the tester, with or without glasses, and can distinguish between red, green and amber, he passes."

"A motorist who fails is referred to a vision specialist. A visit to an optometrist and a new pair of glasses usually is enough to correct the deficiency."

"But a driver may have 20-40 vision and perfect color perception and still have visual problems that affect his driving."

"For instance, a driver might have tunnel vision. He can see what is straight ahead, but not the car passing him on the side."

"Perception of movement from the side may be a driver's first notice that a child is moving into the path of his car or that another motorist parked at the curb is starting to open his door."

"We will develop better tests to judge a license applicant's field of vision. There are other factors, such as response to glare and adaptability to changes in illumination that effect driving. We will find ways to measure a driver's ability to meet them."

"Our office is not in business to deny licenses to applicants who want to drive. But we must have screening procedures to be sure all drivers have visual ability to drive safely."

"If we find vision defects, we want to provide the applicant with means to correct the defects."

"The profession of optometry can help us find better testing techniques, better criteria for visual performance and better ways to correct visual deficiencies."

"Traffic accidents are a leading cause of death. In Illinois, 2,369 were killed and 168,460 injured last year in traffic."

"Better vision testing is only one of many approaches to improve traffic safety. We have a Traffic Safety Advisory Council helping our office explore many others."

"Our programs can succeed only with cooperation of the people. It will be our job to involve the whole motoring public in sharing responsibility to make traffic safety programs work."

Members of Howlett's Vision Care Committee, in addition to

Gwendolyn Cagle weds Gary Lester Krukoski

Firestone baskets of autumn flowers decorated the sanctuary of St. Joseph Catholic Church for the wedding on Sept. 28 of Miss Gwendolyn Rae Cagle and Gary Lester Krukoski. The officiating pastor, the Rev. Henry Mack, performed the double ring ceremony at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Parents of the bride are Mrs. Linette Cagle, 2427 Washington Ave., and Elmer S. Cagle of Springfield, Ill. The groom is a son of Mrs. Sarah Krukoski, 27 Arrowhead Road, Litchfield, Ill., and the late Robert Krukoski.

Prior to the service, Miss Sandy Baker sang "One Love," "Sunrise, Sunset," "Wedding Song," "Our Father," and "We've Only Just Begun." Mrs. Clara Judd presided at the organ.

John Robert Scott of Decatur, Ill., formerly of this area, escorted his granddaughter down the white carpeted aisle and gave her in marriage.

A white organza Empire silhouette gown, lavishly appliqued with Chantilly lace motifs and etched with iridescent sequins at the high neckline and on the cuffs of the long full sleeves, was worn by the bride.

Satin ribbon encircled the waistline, enhanced the full skirt, featuring scalloped lace panels, and was repeated on the detachable sweep train.

She wore a lace bordered mantilla veil secured to a satin ribbon and lace cap, and she held a cascade bouquet of white gardenias and stephanotis.

The maid of honor was Miss Elaine Noeth and the bridesmaids were Misses Cindy Cagle, a sister of the bride, Teresa Krukoski, the groom's sister and Lynn McGee.

They wore identical, crepe jersey halter style gowns in a rust shade complemented with short hooded jackets made with long sleeves.

Each carried a colonial bouquet of mixed fall flowers in yellow and bronze.

Sara Seidner, a cousin of the bride, was the flower girl and Adam Kustermann, another cousin, served as the ringbearer. She wore an apricot colored frock similar to the adult attendants' dresses.

Nick Haines served as best man. Mike Krukoski, a brother of the groom, Douglas Ackeburg and Tom Lee were groomsmen. Mark Fruen and Dennis Malloy were ushers.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Cagle, chose a long pink polyester knit gown designed with a high neckline, long sleeves and an accordion pleated skirt.

Mrs. Krukoski, the groom's mother, selected a formal dress of jersey knit fashioned with a white and brown polka dot bodice, a reverse colored polka dot skirt and a long sleeve jacket. Both wore cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Roger Eddleman of Marion, Ill., registered guests at a reception given at the Granite City Knights of Columbus Hall.

A dinner following the church rehearsal was held at Zepetella's Restaurant, Collinsville.

After a wedding trip to the Lake of the Ozarks, the couple is residing in Minneapolis, Minn. A graduate of Granite City High School the bride also attended Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

Her husband is a Collinsville High School graduate and also attended SIU at Carbondale. He is now employed by Northwest Orient Airlines, based in Minneapolis.

Nurses Alumnae plans benefit

St. Elizabeth Hospital Nurses Alumnae met for dinner last week at Tempel's Smorgasbord and made plans to conduct a rummage sale Saturday at Schermer Bros. Supermarket, 12th Street and Madison Avenue, Madison.

Indiana church scene of Mead-Vanyo wedding

An out-of-town wedding of interest here was that of Miss Pamela L. Vanyo and John Mead taking place at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of Oct. 12 at St. Christopher Catholic Church at Speedway, Ind.

The bride is a daughter of Andrew G. Vanyo of Indianapolis, Ind., and Mrs. Charlotte Pyle of Madison. Parents of the groom are Mrs. Ruby Mead of Indianapolis and John Mead of Tennessee.

She wore a gown of white polyester designed with an Empire bodice, appliqued with lace motifs, and a high neckline. Matching lace edged the cuffs of the long tapered sleeves and bordered the mantilla veil.

Her chapel length train was attached at the shoulders with tiny satin bows and she carried a cascade arrangement of orchids and yellow roses.

Mrs. Kim Johnson, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Mrs. Flora Kulek, Mrs. Theresa Seiz, Miss Karen Ray and Miss Denise Roller served as bridesmaids.

They were gownned alike in Empire style dresses of burnt orange polyester. Each held a basket of pom poms in autumn colors.

Attending the groom as best man was Marvin Pope Jr. Groomsmen and ushers included Andrew J. and Mark Vanyo, brothers of the bride, Ron Berson, Tony Tinkler, Edward Hof and Mark Grounds.

Guests were received by the newly married couple at a reception held at 6:30 in the evening at the church social hall. Mrs. Mead, mother of the groom, hosted the rehearsal dinner.

The newlyweds are residing in Indianapolis following a wedding trip.

Loot parked truck

A wrench, an ax, a hatchet, a pulley and some tools, worth a total of $285, were stolen from the truck of Chuck Morris, 2544 Lynch Ave., last week. The driver's side vent window was broken and the door unlocked.

Indict 7 men

Seven men were indicted by a Madison County grand jury Thursday afternoon on burglary charges in connection with two cases in the Venice and Madison areas.

Reversal on new SIUC president

The Southern Illinois University board of trustees will begin discussions with a second candidate for the presidency of SIUC at Carbondale following termination of negotiations with Albert Somit, executive vice-president of the State University of New York-Buffalo campus.

Differences in interpretation of salary provisions in the board's offer led to a mutual termination of discussions of the presidency, Ivan A. Elliott Jr., chairman of the board of trustees, said Friday.

Speaking at a hastily called Carbondale press conference, Elliott said he had called 51-year old Warren W. Brandt, former president of Virginia Commonwealth University in Richmond, Va., early Friday morning, following the end of the discussions with Somit.

He said the board had decided earlier that Brandt and Somit were both superior candidates for the Carbondale presidency.

"Both men are so well qualified, either could do the job at Southern Illinois University-Carbondale," Elliott said.

He said he gave Brandt a thumbs up sketch of approval leading to the ending of talks with Somit, and asked if Brandt wished to negotiate with the board. Brandt said he is interested.

Elliott said he will meet with Brandt in the near future, but declined to set a specific schedule for the meeting. "I assure you we won't drag our feet on this," he said.

Negotiations with Somit hung up on interpretation of the "shadow salary" Somit would have been entitled to if he reverted to a solely teaching position after being president.

This salary is generally 10 to 20 per cent lower than the former administrative salary. The problem arose over how the reduction would be figured.

Elliott said a general agreement had been reached on all other provisions of a memorandum of agreement between Somit and the board. He had issued an announcement late Thursday that Somit had been hired.

MRS. HELEN HAWKINS

BRADLEY MIKE BRIGGS

LOUIS WHITSELL

Mrs. Helen M. Hawkins is one of two independent candidates opposing the Democratic nominee, Louis Whitsell, for election Nov. 5 as the District 26 member of the Madison County Board. Whitsell is the incumbent board member.

Mrs. Hawkins resides at 2600 Angela Drive, Nameoki Township, with her husband, Dr. Hubert Hawkins, an optometrist, and their two children, Debra and Mark.

She has resided in the township for the past ten years, and she and her husband have been married for 27 years. She was born in Detroit, Mich.

Mrs. Hawkins has served as Democratic committeewoman of Nameoki Precinct Five. She also has served in the appointive position of inspector in the township health department.

Mrs. Hawkins has been active in seeking stormwater drainage for the Dobey Slough area. She was one of the citizens appointed by former Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie in 1972 to study possible boundary changes affecting the East Side Levee and Sanitary District.

She attended the Holbrook elementary school in Detroit and Hyde Park High School in Chicago.

A member of the Women of the Moose, Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary Unit 113, she is past chairman of the Maple Grade School room mothers.

She has been a member of the Women's Division of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and has received a certificate of appreciation for township governmental service.

Mrs. Hawkins has commented to the Press-Record, "The County Board, as it operates in this county, is an overly expensive legislative body."

A board member makes $40 a day plus mileage. I would like to see the per diem system supplanted by a fixed annual salary.

In the event that the board would not go along with this salary system, I would push for more organized committee work including the county member could attend more than one meeting on a given day, thus resulting in conducting twice the amount of business for the single per diem pay.

"I think that the Madison County office holders run relatively efficient and economical offices."

"The one elective position that gives the taxpayers the most dollars spent is the County Board, which produces no actual work but is deliberative in nature."

"I feel the single most pressing problem facing the county today is financial problems, but this is true for all levels of government."

"Other than being a 'watch dog,' always willing to cut waste when at hand, cannot promise a panacea for the problems," Mrs. Hawkins said.

"I intend to stress the issues of wise flood control, land usage, and strict enforcement of building codes to prevent flooding in already existing residences, such as requiring basements in low-lying areas."

"I plan to lead in the movement to reduce the East Side Levee and Sanitary District with a more responsible body."

"Discussing federal revenue-sharing programs, she said, 'The money that comes to the taxpayers in revenue sharing is their money in the first place minus what has been lost to the federal government processes it.'"

"However, since this is the system they have devised — and one county board member cannot change it — I would advocate that this money not be looked upon as a gift to spend for luxuries (i.e. parks, more grandiose government structures, etc.) but instead be put in the general fund so as to prevent a property tax increase."

"While I favor recreational developments in the county, I feel they are not to be put ahead of more vital services, such as

Bradley Michael "Mike" Briggs is the youngest candidate seeking to represent the public on the Madison County Board. Running in District 26, he is 20 years old.

Briggs is an independent candidate in the Nov. 5 balloting.

Born in Granite City, he attended local schools. He graduated from Granite City High School in June 1971 as a college preparatory student.

Briggs entered Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in the fall of 1971 as an accounting major, but has since become a political science major. He expects to graduate in 1975.

He was married in 1973 and resides at 3805 Park Lane in Pontoon Beach with his wife, Cathy, and his son, Bradley Jr.

He is presently employed at the Pizza Pit in Pontoon Beach. He commented to the Press-Record, "It appears as though much is being done by Board Member Whitsell. However, I do not believe he is dealing fairly with the people of District

"The Drainage project recently is an obvious example. Mr. Whitsell in effect created a 'district within a district' in trying to provide drainage to Parkview Estates."

"The East Side Levee and Sanitary District was established for this sort of work and the people of District 26 are paying their tax dollars for it."

"Mr. Whitsell wants more tax dollars from the people for his own district. In fact, he has conceded to having 'stretched the law' in establishing such items as mosquito control and others."

"I do not believe that he is truly qualified for the position. It appears quite clear that he does not particularly care to deal fairly and intelligently with the people of District 26 or officials he is supposed to work with."

"I do not believe that people could vote for a man who has to resort to a barroom style fight because he differs with another man; that is child's play and not what the people pay him for."

"The only way the people can voice their disapproval of such an elected official is to vote against him on Nov. 5."

"As an elected official, I would use my energy to put an end to such items as I have expressed disapproval to previously in this statement."

"But I would need public support to help stop the actions of political 'fat cats' which has crippled effective government in Madison County for many years."

"Changes do not come overnight; however, if public disapproval for such things is voiced strongly, changes can be had."

"Also, I would like to see more and better parks for the children of District 26. It is important to the health and well-being of each person that recreational facilities be established."

"I would like to initiate a campaign which would attempt to get the people of District 26 more involved with their government."

"Although my opposition may say I lack practical experience in dealing with the problems of the county, I am always eager to learn."

"I enjoy working with people, and I do sincerely believe it is time for a change."

"It may sound idealistic, but I believe it can work. This time, vote 'truth with youth,' Briggs concluded."

law enforcement, health care, drainage, etc.

"I would propose a limit as to the number of members that can be appointed to a committee, with the minor committees having three members and the major committees like finance and personnel—having five members."

"This would result in fewer per diem being paid per meeting."

Louis E. Whitsell, Nameoki Township supervisor, is seeking re-election as District 26 Madison County Board member on Nov. 5.

A lifelong resident of Madison County, he has served two terms as a Democratic precinct committeeman and is a past Nameoki town clerk.

He serves on the Parks and Recreation Committee, Four Township Sewer Committee, Building-Zoning-Subdivision Control, Education Committee, Executive Committee and County Museum Committee.

Whitsell, 37, is chairman of the Parks-Recreation, Education and Museum Committees.

Former first vice-president of Retail Clerks Local 435, he is a member of Tool and Die Makers Lodge 608, Masonic Lodge 877, the American Legion, Township Officials, Chamber of Commerce and Truth and Action Party.

A graduate of Granite City High School, he finished courses at SIU and Hadley Technical School. He served in the Marine Corps Reserve in 1954-64.

A tool and die maker at Ehrhardt Tool and Machine Co., he previously was employed at Cohen's Market. He is married and has five daughters.

Whitsell believes that many "tend to criticize those County Board members who do all the work. The ones who do nothing never get criticized."

He adds, "All persons who are expected to give their time, knowledge and labor are entitled to receive compensation for their services."

"If it ever gets to the point that elected officials are expected to work for nothing, as a safe and economical way to provide adequate electric power in the coming years."

One of the 60-year-old legislator is seeking his 16th consecutive two-year term in the U.S. House of Representatives.

One of the most experienced of all members of Congress, he is a close associate of Speaker Carl Albert, who was principal speaker at a testimonial dinner honoring Cong. Price here this year.

Price is elected to Congress while serving as an enlisted man in the U.S. Army in World War II.

Price is a strong advocate of an adequate military defense and also is urging prompt development of nuclear testing as a safe and economical way to provide adequate electric power in the coming years.

A native of East St. Louis, he attended parochial schools there and took evening courses at St. Louis University High School and St. Louis University.

He is married and has one son. Price is a member of many civic and fraternal groups and of the National Press Club.

Traditionally spending only small sums of money in his personal life, Congressman Price leads the ticket, swamping all opposition in both primary and general balloting.

Although much of his attention is devoted to key national issues, he also is regarded as one of the most energetic of all congressmen to the needs and concerns of his constituents.

He has been instrumental in encouraging of continued operation of Scott Air Force Base, Belleville, as the headquarters of major Air Force commands and operations.

Although the former Granite City Army Depot was phased out of operation in 1970 as part of the national trend toward reduction of Department of Defense bases, it has remained in use as a regional support center for the armed forces.

The local Army installation is being expanded in the amount of its acreage actively utilized, and in the scope of its services to federal agencies and departments.

CONG. MELVIN PRICE

Melvin Price, East St. Louis, who has represented the Quad-City area in Congress since 1944, seeks re-election this year. He won the Democratic nomination in the March 19 primary.

In line to become dean of the 24-member Illinois delegation in Congress, he is chairman of the House Committee on Standards of Official Conduct and chairman of the Joint House-Senate Committee on Atomic Energy.

The ranking member of the House Armed Services Committee, Price is chairman of its Research and Development subcommittee.

He is regarded as one of the most knowledgeable leaders in the nation on issues related to the Department of Defense and the Atomic Energy Commission.

Illinois GOP fears loss of many of its congressmen

By KEN WATSON
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

Will there be a Republican party after the November election?

This could be a serious question as far as Illinois is concerned. The Statehouse Dome, fears are expressed by some GOP stalwarts that the party could suffer an election debacle that would destroy its effectiveness in this state for years to come. Surprisingly, perhaps, the strongest exceptions to this setback come from Capitol Democrats. These may be thinking of their own party's apparently quick comeback from the 1970 gubernatorial election of 1972, or they could be worrying about over-confidence from grassroots workers.

Some Democrats and Republicans, too, point to the GOP's prompt resurgence from the Goldwater collapse in 1964. But there is, among many, a feeling that what may await the Republicans this year is a setback of proportions far greater than 1964 and, perhaps, approaching the political tidal wave of disaster that struck in 1932.

Some Republican loyalists fear the road back to state and national dominance could be as long as the post-1932 recovery.

What makes 1974 different from 1964 and 1972 is that the likelihood in those years occurred as a result of national opposition to the views of single candidates.

This year, the GOP bears the huge burdens of Watergate, inflation and a deepening recession.

Lead role for Greer in Irish drama this week

The University Theater at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will open its season Wednesday with the Irish drama, Lovers, by Brian Friel.

Hanna Wilson-Tracey in "Lovers"; Kevin Hofeditz, Edwardsville, Joe in "Winners"; Martha Traverse, State College, Pa., Mag in "Winners"; Patty Hazen, Edwardsville, Mrs. Wilson in "Lovers"; and Diane Hammond, Roxana, Clary Cassidy in "Lovers."

Director of the all-student cast is Ed Stockwell of St. Charles, Mo. Don Croxson, St. Louis, designed the set and Steve Brown of O'Fallon composed the music. John Fowler, Indianapolis, is the light designer and Lisa Brown, also of O'Fallon, is handling sound effects.

Composed of two one-act plays, each representing a vignette of Irish contemporary life and problems, the production opens with an act subtitled "Winners," concerning the problems encountered by a young Irish couple facing marriage.

"Lovers," subtitle of the second act, gives a hint as to the nature of the future awaiting Andy, the main character of this section. He is involved in an unusual situation with his wife, mother-in-law, a neighbor and a saint. This role was originally created in this country by Art Carney.

There is also apprehension about the 15th District seat, so long represented by retiring GOP House Whip Leslie C. Arends.

Congressman Robert Michel of the Peoria area should be safe, but this is far from a normal year and a huge Democratic tide might engulf him, too.

The safest Downstate Republican congressman appears to be John Anderson of the Rockford area. Loss of Anderson would be a massive blow, since he is chairman of the House GOP Conference.

Members of the cast include Jim Greer of Granite City, who portrays the man in "Winners" and Andy Tracey in "Lovers"; Diane Ferreira, Mount Vernon, the woman in "Winners" and

Price of admission is $2 for adults. High school students, groups of 15 or more and senior citizens will be admitted for $1. Admission is free for SIUE students.

All the incumbent GOP congressmen are "running scared" and pretty much on their own. None expects help from the statewide ticket, generally conceded to be facing a defeat of landslide dimensions.

Protestant Welfare aids 94

Mrs. Marie Whittle, office secretary of Protestant Welfare Association, Inc., reported a total of $715 in relief assistance was distributed to 40 cases involving 94 persons during the month of September.

Venice school

Improvement Association Hall, 100 Hill St., Eagle Park, for residents of the school district of the city of Venice, which residents within the city will ballot at the Park district's recreation center at 305 Broadway.

Venice school officials admit that even if the 50-cent rate increase were approved, the district's educational fund still will be in trouble after the end of the current school year next June 30.

The 50-cent rate would provide an additional $161,461 in tax revenue if the full 100 per cent extension were collected to help meet an estimated fund shortage of about $400,000 that will develop during the current school year.

Vickers said the district will need to borrow $400,000 through the sale of anticipated warrants during the 1974-75 school year to meet expenses in the educational fund which are projected in the budget at $1,177,989. Revenue in the educational fund during the year is estimated at $988,271. This creates a deficit of $189,688, Vickers noted. Added to that is a deficit in educational fund revenue of $276,000 caused by repayment of tax warrants in that amount which were sold last year to meet operating expenses of the 1973-74 school year. Repayment of tax warrants "comes off the top" of the tax revenue and there for lessens the amount of money available for operating costs in the current year.

Vickers noted that the $189,688 budget deficit in the $276,000 reduction in tax revenue from payment of last year's warrants totals $455,688, which is the amount of the educational fund shortage projected for the current year. Adding to the deficit, Vickers explained, is the fact that in recent years the banks have limited the district to sale of tax warrants equivalent to 60 per cent of its taxing power, rather than the full 75 per cent allowable under state law.

On this basis, she said, the district cannot hope to borrow the $400,000 that is needed to keep Venice schools operating through the remainder of the school year. Vickers said the biggest problem facing the district is the 50-cent rate increase "that it will give the district enough taxing power to support a $400,000 sale of anticipated warrants for operating costs this school year."

Without the rate increase to justify a loan of that amount, Vickers said, the district will have to go to second-year anticipation warrants which would mean borrowing against taxes to be levied in 1975 and collected in 1976. Such a procedure would depend entirely upon whether or not the banks would accept second-year tax borrowing. Vickers said school officials have not yet discussed that possibility with the banks.

A $400,000 loan against educational fund taxes this year appears certain to create further problems next year when the district would be required to repay the $400,000 loan from its first tax revenue, thus creating further deficits in the educational fund. This is particularly true since the 50-cent rate increase would raise only $161,461 or a 100 per cent collection and this amount could be reduced by further decreases in the district's assessed valuations.

Board of Education members attribute the district's financial plight to a combination of increased salaries and inflationary prices, along with steadily decreasing property assessment.

Because of the present limit

Mrs. Morris dies at 92

Mrs. Barbara (Mejaski) Morris, 92, of 2762 Washington Ave., died at 12:15 a.m. today at St. Joseph Hospital, Highland. She had been hospitalized 14 days.

A native of Yugoslavia, Mrs. Morris resided in the Quad-City area for 49 years.

She was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church and belonged to the Croatian Fraternal Union.

Her husband, John Morris, died March 27, 1959.

Survivors include a son, William P. Morris of Granite City; two daughters, Mrs. John (Mary) Buchek of Granite City and Mrs. Daniel (Ann) Clotfeller Jr. of Fairmont City; five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

of $2.05 per $100 assessed valuation, the district's educational fund revenue decreases with each reduction in assessed property values.

The present $2.05 educational tax rate was raised to that limit from $1.85 late in 1969 when Venice school district voters approved a tax increase of 10 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Since that time tax revenue of the educational fund has increased only $100,000 because of a $3 million decline in property assessments from 1969 to 1973, while educational fund expenditures during the same period increased by $320,000.

School district reports show that for the 1969-70 school year when the educational fund rate was increased from $1.85 to $2.05, total educational fund expenditures amounted to $1,033,017 with $607,994 of the total in "instructional" costs. Educational fund revenue for the same period was $981,209, with $570,221 of that total provided by property taxes. Revenue with exception of taxes comes primarily from state and federal aid.

Educational fund costs the following school year (1969-1970) had climbed to $1,126,885 with a rise to $662,236 in instructional costs. Total educational fund revenue that year was $958,330, of which $570,644 came from taxes.

For the 1972-73 school year, educational fund expenditures total $1,354,580 with $906,476 of the amount in instructional costs against total fund revenue of $1,225,161 which included $670,172 in tax revenue.

The district's property assessments have declined each year while costs have been rising and a deficit anticipated in the educational fund.

For the 1967 tax year, the district's property values totaled $736,090, but they dropped nearly $2 million the following year to $353,626, remaining in that area for several years. In 1973, however, valuations were down to $334,632 and declined again in 1974 to $317,691.

The valuation for 1974, on which school officials are projecting next year's tax income, is $329,280. On the basis of this assessment, the district expects to collect taxes next summer totaling $65,286.

At the same time, educational fund salaries for the current school year will amount to $955,636, up from last year's $898,090, according to Vickers. Vickers said the district anticipates no problems in its building fund which is budgeted for the 1974-75 year at $266,990, while revenue is projected at $145,651. The school superintendent said that other funds such as the fire and safety fund go toward building fund expenditures and will add to the revenue in this account.

News notes

President Gerald Ford on Friday signed a $7,750,000 program intended to spur construction of 100,000 new homes. The new law allows the U. S. to buy conventional mortgages and resell them as loan funds, or other lending institutions, thus putting more money into the tight home loan market.

A hearing will be held Nov. 13 on a motion to dismiss the character defamation suit filed by former Madison County zoning and building officer Jack Clifford against members of the County Board's Land Use Committee.

The U. S. Health, Education and Welfare Department notified Illinois on Friday it will receive $5,500,000 less in federal funds than was requested to pay welfare recipients during the last half of this year. Cuts total $5 million for 55 states. The U. S. is trying to prod states to weed out ineligible families and over payments.

The Gross National Product showed a decline in real value of 2.9 per cent Thursday, the third consecutive drop.

Vice President-designate Nelson Rockefeller said Saturday he gave $24 million in charitable and educational gifts in the last 17 years.

Labor unions have given $2,800,000 to U. S. House and Senate candidates this year and have pledged $4,700,000 to spend, with the Nov. 5 election two weeks away.

The second report luncheon of the current 18-agency Tri-Cities Area United Way campaign is set for noon Wednesday at the YMCA.

Fog hampered Lambert Airport flights from 6 a.m. to 5:30 a.m. Saturday.

President Ford is to meet with the president of Mexico today in his first trip out of the U. S. since entering the White House.

The President on Friday ordered federal agencies to add to their security consumption to 15 per cent less than they used in the July 1972-June 1973 fiscal year. New controls on the federal government's use of funds being predicted within four months unless there is a drop in current usage.

Forecasts just completed for Lambert Airport show that peak holiday travel will be necessary well before 1985 and that noise problem areas will intensify and expand, the St. Louis Metropolitan Airport Authority said Friday.

Mrs. Laura Knecht dies

Mrs. Laura (Breder) Knecht, 82, of 1051 Goldhill Road, Placerville, Calif., formerly of Granite City, died at 4:30 p.m. Saturday at the Pines Convalescent Home in Placerville, where she had been a patient 10 days.

She was born in Ogallala, Neb., and resided in Granite City 30 years prior to moving to California five years ago.

While residing here, Mrs. Knecht was a member of the Lutheran Church. She belonged to the First Lutheran Church in Placerville. Survivors include her husband, Peter H. Knecht, a 50-year retired employee of Granite City Steel; two sons, Harold G. Knecht of Placerville and Paul Knecht of Collinsville; one daughter, Mrs. Alice Warner of Collinsville; a sister, Mrs. Carrie Frieking of Concordia, Mo.; seven grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Former GC resident dies after accident

Mrs. Mary Ann Amos, 19, of Box 306, Rural Route One, Caseyville, a former Granite City resident, died at 1:06 a.m. today after a two-car accident on Bellevue, of injuries sustained in an auto accident. Born in Granite City, she had lived in Caseyville 16 years.

Collinsville police said the accident occurred at 12:40 a.m. today, at West Main and Jefferson streets. The car in which Mrs. Amos was a passenger collided with a truck driven by John A. Pope, Collinsville.

Train derails

Three cars of a 104 car Norfolk & Western Railroad train derailed close to Stallings School on Route 162 at about 5:30 p.m. Friday. There were no injuries.

Officials said the train was enroute to Madison from Pekin and the second, third and fourth cars derailed. The cause was not known. The cars involved carried paper, food and track material.

The derailment emphasized the point of the Stallings School Parent-Teacher Association that trains operating at high speed directly behind the school and playground area present a hazard to school children. The same concern occurred on the tracks closest to the playground, parents noted.

The PTA is circulating petitions requesting the state to require a lower speed limit along that section of track. To date 65 persons have signed petitions, according to a PTA spokeswoman.

The PTA also enlisted the support of the Madison County Board at its meeting Tuesday night, the board agreeing to have the clerk write the state requesting a lower speed limit for trains there.

Railroad workers utilized heavy cranes and equipment Friday evening to put the cars back on the tracks.

Donald Sorlie dies at 37

Donald M. Sorlie, 37, of 2410 Edison Ave., a retired Army sergeant first class, died at 11 p.m. Sunday at St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he had been a patient one week.

Mr. Sorlie retired from military service at the Granite City Army Depot on March 2, 1974. He was a veteran of 20 years Army service.

A native of Chicago, Mr. Sorlie had lived in Granite City the past four years. He was of the Lutheran faith and was a member of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1300, Tri-Cities American Legion Post 113 and the Non-Commissioned Officers Club at the local Army installation.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Patricia Sorlie; one daughter, Miss Donna Sorlie, 16, and a son, Donald Sorlie Jr., 9, both at home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Helge (Olga) Sorlie of Chicago; a sister, Miss Helen Sorlie of Chicago, and a brother, Ronald Sorlie of Concord, Calif.

Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

Chattanooga and television crews set up cameras at the pit entrances.

About 6 p.m. Sunday, Miss Cochrane's group was located by Brad Neff and Buddy Lee of Chattanooga.

"We tried to conserve our food and we didn't burn our lights," the local cave explorer said. "We used candles and kerosene lamps."

She said the group had one can of turkey, some peanuts and GORP, an energy food.

"To keep warm we wrapped up in a plastic sheet," she explained. Members of the quartet exercised every 15 minutes or so to maintain body heat. Miss Cochrane added.

CD Director Abney said about 150 persons, including citizens band radio operators who provided the radio link from the mountain back to Lafayette, were involved in the rescue effort.

He praised the groups involved specifically: Dade County Civil Defense, Hamilton County (Tenn.) Civil Defense, North Georgia Muddlingers Four-Wheel Drive Club, North Georgia Speleological Society (Walker County Cave Club), the citizen band radio operators.

Miss Cochrane is a member of the National Society of Speleologists and has explored most of the major caves in the United States and Mexico. She is a seasonal geologist in botany at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cochrane, 2730 State St.

CONVICT 10 IN RAIL THEFTS

A federal jury in Alton Thursday evening returned verdicts of guilty against 10 men in connection with the theft of items worth more than $1.7 million from the Madison switching yard of the Terminal Railroad Association.

All 10 were found guilty of conspiracy. Numerous other charges were upheld by the jury against some of the men. The 10 were among 28 persons indicted in February by a federal grand jury on charges stemming from the rail thefts. It was alleged boxcars were switched onto remote sidings and then were looted. The violations were believed to have occurred between May 1971 and October 1973.

The indictments followed an 18-month federal investigation by federal agents, including the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Treasury Department. The jury heard 105 witnesses during seven days of testimony before retiring for deliberations at 6:10 p.m. Wednesday. They recessed at 10:15 a.m. Thursday. The jurors remained behind closed doors until reaching a verdict at 9:45 p.m. Thursday.

The verdicts announced follow. David Nordstrom, Wood River, I.R.R.A. clerk, found guilty of 12 counts of theft, conspiracy and concealing stolen ammunition.

William Albert Cline, Collinsville, who was not employed by the railroad, found guilty of conspiracy, illegal liquor sales, theft, possession of stolen goods and receiving stolen ammunition.

Donald Carlyle, Collinsville, a carman, found guilty of conspiracy, theft and possession of stolen goods.

Teddy Crouch, Cahokia, a carman, found guilty of conspiracy, theft, possession of stolen goods and possession of stolen ammunition.

William L. Evans, O'Fallon, a carman, found guilty of conspiracy, theft, possession of stolen goods and possession of stolen ammunition.

Glenn A. Frederick, Caseyville, a yard clerk, found guilty of conspiracy and concealing stolen ammunition and innocent of theft.

Edward Reid, Belleville, a carman, found guilty of theft, perjury, conspiracy and concealing stolen ammunition.

William B. Watts, Cahokia, a railroad guard, found guilty of conspiracy, concealing stolen ammunition and three counts of theft, and innocent of one count of theft.

Many of the 28 indicted already have pleaded guilty to charges related to the railroad thefts and separate trials are to be held for nine others at a later date.

U.S. District Judge Robert D. Morgan ordered pre-sentence investigations to be conducted prior to setting a date for sentencing the 10 men found guilty Thursday.

Veterans' Day Oct. 28 for some, others Nov. 11

By MARY LOU MANNING
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau
Shades of Memorial Day! Another holiday in which state and federal dates don't jibe is fast approaching.

Veterans' Day will be celebrated by federal employees on Oct. 28 while state workers will take Nov. 11 as their official fête.

The separation came in 1972 when the Illinois General Assembly voted to restore Veterans' Day from the fourth Monday in October to the traditional November date.

Veterans' Day — or Armistice Day as it is also called — commemorates the anniversary of the end of World War I. At 11 a.m. on Nov. 11, 1918, belligerents signed the end of hostilities in Europe.

Memorial Day was celebrated in the same spirit of fashion. Federal employees took the last Monday in May off while state employees were absent May 30. Confusion arose when schools, banks, savings and loan establishments, stores and employers alike were at odds. This time, however, it won't be so confusing. Stores are traditionally open on Veterans' Day. Public schools will be closed Nov. 11, and a sppt check on parochial schools indicated many will follow suit.

Some banks in the state will be closed Nov. 11. Postal employees will be off Oct. 28.

State and federal offices come together with a common observance of the general election day, Nov. 5. State and federal offices will be closed that Tuesday.

Election day is generally observed only when Presidential or off-year general election days are held. Primary election days are observed in some states.

Technically, there are no national holidays. The President and Congress can legally designate holidays only for the District of Columbia and for federal employees.

Each state has jurisdiction over its holidays, which are designated by legislative enactment or executive proclamation. However, most states do observe the federal legal public holidays.

The remaining state holidays for 1974 include: election day, Nov. 5; Veterans' Day, Nov. 11; Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 28; and Christmas Day, Dec. 25.

Lay, trauma surgeon from St. Elizabeth; Dr. Allen Kilpatrick, director of emergency medical services, City of St. Louis; and Dr. John Collins, professor of surgery, Washington University School of Medicine.

Observe Cleaner Air week

Cleaner Air Week, established in 1949 by the Air Pollution Control Association, will be observed this week through Oct. 28, in an attempt to promote citizen awareness of air pollution in the local community, according to J. Lawrence Keshner, president of the Lewis-Clark Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

What is so bad about air pollution? "Even if you can't see it, air pollution constricts the breathing passages of the respiratory system, making breathing more difficult," Keshner said. It attacks the body's defenses, leaving a person more susceptible to infection. It contributes to the development of chronic lung diseases such as emphysema, chronic bronchitis, asthma, and lung cancer.

"Air pollution is especially dangerous to already-vulnerable people — children, the elderly, and those suffering from heart disease," he warned.

This year the American Lung Association and its state and regional Christmas Seal affiliates, including the Lewis-Clark association, have again joined the APCA in promoting Cleaner Air Week.

"Individual action against pollution can be effective," Keshner said. "Bagging leaves instead of burning them, kicking the cigarette habit, driving less, keeping vehicles well-tuned, using mass transportation, car pools, or bicycling are all personal ways to reduce air pollution."

Lewis-Clark association is observing Cleaner Air Week this year by providing a copy of "Controlling Air Pollution: A Primer on Stationary Source Control Techniques" to each school and public library in Madison, Jersey and Calhoun counties.

The 52-page book describes clearly and simply, for the non-expert, the methods and techniques available for industrial air pollution control and is a supplement to "Air Pollution Primer," which was distributed to libraries last year.

More facts on the effects of air pollution and what individuals can do to fight it, may be obtained from Lewis-Clark Tuberculosis and Respiratory Association, P.O. Box 158, Wood River, Ill. 62065.

Area communities to seek U.S. development funds

Efforts are under way to apply for $7 million available to Madison County under the Department of Housing and Urban Development Community and Urban Development Act of 1974. The money could be used for low-cost housing, parks, sewers and other community development, but officials of the county must agree on how it is to be apportioned.

At a meeting last week in Edwardsville, Ill., Clyde Hartung of that city said the federal money may not be divided up by population on a per-capita basis and Madison County Board Member Jack Franden of Alhambra said he also felt a per-capita distribution would be "illegal."

The group decided to utilize the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission's five "planning districts" in the county as a basis upon which to begin allocation studies.

A committee of mayors was created with one mayor to oversee each of the five planning districts in the county.

Townships are not included in list of entities eligible to receive money under the program.

County fourth in traffic deaths

The death toll from traffic accidents in Madison County during 1973 was the fourth highest of any county in Illinois, according to figures released by the Illinois Department of Transportation.

While traffic deaths in Granite City declined from seven in 1972 to four last year, the number of fatalities in Madison County climbed from 72 in 1972 to 86 last year.

The three counties in the state with higher death tolls were Cook County with 636, Lake County with 120 and Will County with 94.

St. Clair County was sixth in the number of persons killed on the highways with 69 fatalities during 1973, the report noted. Madison County experienced 10,020 traffic accidents in 1973 which was 1,671 more than the 8,349 accidents in 1972. A total of 4,482 persons was injured in Madison County accidents last year, 255 more than the 4,227 injured in 1972.

The number injured in Granite City accidents was 652 last year, two more than in 1972. Madison had one death in the city last year, a decline from two in 1972.

HOUSE BURGLARY

Barbara Ingram, 2400 Edison Ave., reported that thieves entered her home through a bedroom window between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. Friday and totally ransacked it. Taken were two rings with initials E.I., an eight-track player valued at $65, FM stereo $80, radio $50, a jar of old coins and two money bags of old coins.

Suit filed in traffic death

Mrs. Maxine Walker, 420 Highway 162, has filed in Madison County Circuit Court a three-count suit, seeking $250,000 in each count, from the Norfolk and Western Railway Co., in behalf of the estate of her late daughter, Lynda Mae Atkinson.

Miss Atkinson, 19, was killed July 4, 1974, when her car was struck by a westbound train on the Norfolk & Western railroad tracks at Lake Drive at 8:35 p.m.

The suit charges the railroad with failure to install or maintain gates at the crossing, "warn by bell, lights or other equipment of the approach of a train." It also charges the railroad with allowing growth of shrubs, weeds, and other underbrush as to restrict a motorist's vision of oncoming trains.
